LONDON, April 1.—The popular discontent in Ireland seems to be increasing. The evening papers of this city today publish a long list of outrages which have recently been committed there. Yesterday the Protestant Church at Buttevant, Cork County, was entered by evil-disposed persons, the walls and furniture defaced, and the building itself nearly destroyed. The Dublin correspondent of the Evening Post says that the emigration from Ireland to the United States has increased to a remarkable extent within the past few days, and is altogether due to the probable passage through Parliament of the obnoxious bill for the preservation of life and property in Ireland. The Examiner finds in the disconnected and contradictory discussions on Irish affairs in the House of Commons proofs of the wisdom of the American system, which leaves local affairs to local Legislatures....The Atlantic Cable Company, after considering the proposed bill for consolidating the Anglo-American with the French Transatlantic Cable Company, have given it their approval, three-fourths of the stock supporting it. A resolution to this effect has been adopted at a meeting of the Company ....The University boat crews are out two or three times a day on the Thames. The practice of the Oxford men is still the best; but the Cambridge crew are fast improving.

The Irish Force Bill—House of Commons—Education in Ireland—Proposed Remodeling of Trinity College.

LONDON, April 1.—The House of Commons today, in Committee, considered the Irish Force bill as returned from the House of Lords with amendments, and engaged in a protracted debate, mainly on the technical and legal features of its coercive clauses. Messrs. BALL and DISRAELI accused Mr. GLADSTONE of introducing amendments which altered the principle on which the bill was based. Mr. GLADSTONE warmly resented the charge and argued the entire coherency of the modifications which he had suggested. Mr. GLADSTONE moved that all the amendments made in the House of Lords, save one, be agreed to. The motion was carried....The consideration of the Irish Land bill was resumed. The Solicitor-General for Ireland and Mr. BALL discussed the technicalities of the bill. After a recess Mr. FAWCETT moved a resolve that the House, approving the plan of unsectarian and undenominational teaching in Ireland, is in favor of remodeling Trinity College so as to remove religious disabilities. He supported his resolve with cogent arguments. Mr. PLUNKETT, as member for Trinity College, followed, angrily reprobating interference with that institution. He predicted that the adoption of this resolve would produce results affecting not that College alone, but all the educational establishments of Ireland. Mr. GLADSTONE reminded the gentleman that the abolition of university tests was one of the proposed measures of the session, and in the present discussion that fact would be kept in view. He referred to the imputation of ultramontane tendencies in the Ministry, and pronounced it absurd. He deplored the necessity of introducing a measure tending to convulse the country, but denied emphatically that the trust confided by the people to the Whig Party would be abandoned. His duty was unmistakable. If assured that the Government was on the wrong course, he would acknowledge it; but feeling that he was right, he must stand where he stood. Mr. BERESFORD HOPE urged Mr. FAWCETT to withdraw his resolve. Mr. BALL made a speech in support of the resolve. Without action on the subject the House adjourned....In the House of Lords this evening the Irish Force bill was again received from the House of Commons with all the Lords amendments concurred in save one. Without taking action on the bill the House adjourned.

A Sharp Discussion in the Spanish Cortes—Resignation of Señor Becerra in Consequence—His Successor—Rome and Italy.

MADRID, April 1.—A sharp discussion occurred in the Constituent Cortes yesterday afternoon between Señor ROBLEDO, one of the Deputies from Porto Rico, and Señor M. BECERRA, the Minister for the Colonies, wherein the honor of the first-named gentleman was called in question. An exciting scene ensued, which was followed by the withdrawal of Señor BECERRA from the Cabinet. His resignation having been accepted, Señor S. MORET, recently connected with the Navy Department, was appointed to succeed him. Señor MORET is an intimate friend of Admiral TOPETE, late Minister of the Marine. It is understood that the new Minister favors the proposed Constitution for Porto Rico, and will carry it through the Cortes.

PARIS, April 1.—Dispatches from Madrid state that preparations are being made for a great demonstration in that city on Sunday next against military conscription.

ROME, April 1.—It is asserted that the Papal Court has rejected the overtures made by ALI PASHA in favor of the Armenians.

LONDON, April 1.—It is reported at Rome that all attempts to conciliate the opposition in the Council of Ministers have been abandoned. CIALDINI insists on the resignation of the Cabinet.

The French Senatus Consultum—Pierre Bonaparte—The Students and Dr. Tardieu—Newspaper Prosecutions.

PARIS, April 1.—The Ministerial journals defend the Senatus Consultum, while all the other papers pronounce it insufficient....The Presse (newspaper) announces that Prince PIERRE BONAPARTE has gone to America, and his family have been sent to Switzerland. Other journals say the Prince has not left France, but soon will....Another manifestation was made today by the students of the Ecole de Medicine against Dr. TARDIEU. They refused to allow the Professor to proceed with his lecture. There was much disorder, but the Police did not interfere....The Gazette des Tribuneaux to-day announces that at least six weeks will be required for a proper examination into the affair of the conspiracy. "Although the Magistrates are diligently at work, the Gazette adds, every day something new and important transpires in regard to the matter."....CHARLES HUGO, of the editorial staff of the Rappel, has been condemned to six months' imprisonment and a fine of 3,000 francs, and the managing editor of the same paper has been sentenced to three months' imprisonment and a fine of 2,000 francs, for violation of the Press law.

An English Delegation to the Evangelical Conference—An Angry Passage Between Members of the Roman Council.

LONDON, April 1.—A committee has been appointed to make arrangements for the visit of the English delegation to the World's Conference of the Evangelical Alliance at New-York next Autumn. The delegates will probably be Rev. Dr. Jobson, Prof. Blakie, Canon Fremantle, Dean Westcott, and Rev. Messrs. Dale, Hoare, Cairns and Alexander....J. S. MORGAN & Co. have introduced the mortgage bonds of the St. Louis Bridge Company into this market....Advices from Rome report a remarkable scene at a recent sitting of the Council. Cardinal SCHWARTZENBURG and Bishop STROSSMAYER endeavored to urge a policy of conciliation, and while speaking in favorable terms of Protestants and objecting to the anathemas directed against them as arrogant and profane, they were silenced by the angry uproar of the assembly.

THE FIFTEENTH AMENDMENT.

A Demonstration in Washington—Remarks by the President, the Vice-President, and Senator Sumner.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—A Committee appointed at a meeting of the First Ward Republican Club, last night, waited on President GRANT today, and tendered him their thanks on behalf of the colored people for making the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment the subject of a message to Congress, and for the interest he had manifested in promoting their political and social interests. The Committee tendered him a serenade, for which the President thanked them and said it would afford him pleasure to receive them to-night. Accordingly, at 8½ o'clock this evening, a large crowd gathered before the Executive Mansion, when the band played "Hail to the Chief," and the President, accompanied by Col. J. W. FORNEY, representing the Republican Association, appeared at the door of the Executive mansion. After repeated applause at the appearance of the President and the introduction to him of the Committee, Col. FORNEY, on behalf of the Republican citizens, announced to the President that they called upon him to express their profound gratification for the proclamation which seals the great work of their emancipation. Col. FORNEY also briefly described the beneficial results which would ensue to the race by the adoption of the Fifteenth Amendment.

To this the President responded:

I can assure those present that no consummation since the close of the war affords me so much pleasure as the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution by three-fourths of the States of the Union. I have felt the greatest anxiety ever since I was called to this House to know that this was to be secured. It looked like the realization of the Declaration of Independence. [Applause.] I cannot say near so much on this subject as I would like to, not being accustomed to speaking, but I thank you for your presence this evening.

When the applause, which greeted the President's remarks, had subsided, Vice-President COLFAX, who was present, was called upon. He made a short address, assuring those present that his heart was with them in gratitude for the proclamation which has declared to the people of this Republic and to the people of the world the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment. Leaving the Executive mansion the party, who were in carriages and omnibusses, proceeded to Senator SUMNER'S residence. That gentleman was vociferously cheered upon his appearance, and made the following speech:

FELLOW-CITIZENS: I congratulate you upon the great result that has been accomplished. For years my hope and object has been to see the great promise of the Declaration of Independence changed into performance; to see that declaration become a reality. [Cheering.] This at last is nearly accomplished. I do not say entirely accomplished, for it is not. It is my nature, fellow-citizens, to think now of what remains to be done; to think more of our duties than of our triumphs; and only today I have heard from Philadelphia of a decision in a Court of Justice that a person of foreign birth could not be naturalized in this country because of color. This is in pursuance of one of those old statutes of the days of slavery before the word "white" begun to be stricken from the laws. Repeatedly from my seat in the Senate I have made appeals for the abrogation of that word from the laws. I have now a bill before the Judiciary Committee to strike this word from our naturalization laws. What the Committee will do remains to be seen. I need not say that I shall impress upon the Senate the importance of passing this bill. It remains further that equal rights shall be secured in all the public conveyances and on the railroads in the United States, so that no one shall be excluded by reason of color. It also remains that you, here in Washington, shall complete this equality of rights in your common schools. You all go together to vote, and any person may find a seat in the Senate of the United States; but the child is shut out of the common school on account of color. This discrimination must be abolished. All schools must be open to all without distinction of color. In accomplishing this you will work, not only for yourselves, but will set an example for all the land, and most especially for the South. Only in this way can your school system be extended for the equal good of all. And now that you have at heart the education of your children, that they should grow up in that knowledge of equal rights so essential for their protection to the world, it is your bounden duty here in Washington to see that this is accomplished. Your school system must be founded on equal rights, so that no one shall be excluded on account of color. In this way human rights will be best established. And I would remind you, although this has not been accomplished, the victories already are the assurances that all which should be done will be done. You have advanced step by step until you have reached your present position; and now it only remains that you should continue to the end earnest, faithful and determined; then will the whole work be done. Returning you my sincere thanks, I offer my felicitations on this occasion, and bid you good night.

Gen. FREMONT was next visited, but made no speech, merely thanking the Committee who visited him for the compliment. The residence of Secretary FISH was next reached. Secretary BOUTWELL, who was present, shared with the Secretary of State in the compliments of the evening. Urgent calls were made upon both these gentlemen for a speech, and after appearing upon the portico of the dwelling, Secretary FISH humorously remarked that he was much indebted for one visit on this inclement night, and that if he ever indulged in speech-making he would do so to-night. He would, however, have pleasure in producing a gentleman who had made many and good ones. He therefore introduced Secretary BOUTWELL, who said he was disinclined to make a speech on this occasion which had brought them together, which was only second to the proclamation of emancipation. Without that, the Fifteenth Amendment would not have been called; but the emancipation proclamation had made the Fifteenth Amendment practicable. The long series of trials have culminated in the rights of the whole people without regard to race or color; but now that they had adopted the doctrine of the equality of all men before the law, let them see that the foundation was laid for the general welfare of the whole people, which can only be secured by the establishment of an universal system of education which, with this country would become an example of the strength of republican government. In the course of his remarks he alluded to the advantages which accrued to the people by free education, the pulpit and the press, and in concluding his brief speech he said: "We may safely anticipate for our country a degree of prosperity and power which has not been enjoyed by any nation in modern times, and as far as this serenade is in any sense complimentary to me, I thank you all."

The crowd cheered Secretary BOUTWELL, and then proceeded to the residence of Gen. BUTLER, who was not at home. At a late hour they started to serenade Senator REVELS, Mayor BOWEN and others.

The Fifteenth Amendment in Pennsylvania—Re-opening of the Avondale Mine.

SCRANTON, April 1.—Three hundred guns were fired by our colored population this morning in honor of the promulgation of the Fifteenth Amendment....The Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company's Avondale mine will begin working the first time since the fire in September last, on Monday next. A new coal-breaker and other buildings have been constructed at an expense of $80,000. An opening has been made to the Union mine, 680 feet, and an air-shaft sunk to the old rock tunnel. The mine will be ventilated with a fan instead of a furnace, and every precaution for safety to the miners has been taken.

Amusements of the Philadelphia City Fathers—A Hoax upon the Colored People.

PHILADELPHIA, April 1.—At a meeting of the Councils yesterday a resolution passed both branches allowing the colored people to celebrate the adoption of the Fifteenth Amendment by a meeting in Independence-square. The morning papers mentioned the fact, and a colored crowd gathered, but the affair proved to be a 1st of April hoax, as no celebration was intended. The colored Zouave Volunteers also assembled at the armory opposite Independence Hall as if for parade, attracting another crowd, but they finally dispersed without any public demonstration.

SAN DOMINGO.

The Vote on Annexation—A Comparison with Previous Elections—Anxiety About the Treaty.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—J. C. SOLEG, United States Navy, attached to Admiral POOR'S staff, arrived here today with dispatches from San Domingo. He is accompanied by Mr. COHN, Commissioner for the exchange of ratifications of the treaty. He left San Domingo on the 18th of March, on the United States steamer Yantic, for Havana. The latter says the vote in favor of annexation was conducted in a most peaceable way all over the country, and that in the agricultural district it was almost unanimous in favor of annexation, the people only wishing for tranquillity and security, in order that they may devote themselves to industry. The question of annexation to Spain, which was discussed during two years, was carried by only 4,000 votes. CABRAL'S election in 1866 was effected through universal suffrage by a majority of 4,300 votes, but the vote in favor of annexation to the United States, which was taken in less than a fortnight, without any kind of interference on the part of the Government or the presence of a single soldier, was decided by a majority of more than 16,000 with an opposition of only two per cent. Everything was quiet when the Commissioner left San Domingo, and the merchants were awaiting with anxiety the decision of the United States in order to give more attention to business. Not only San Domingo but the surrounding West India Islands consider annexation necessary to salvation and as a means to their future welfare.

THE WEST.

The Funding Bill—The St. Louis Fair—The Dubuque Riot—A Freshet Threatened—Remains of Gen. Thomas in Wyoming.

ST. LOUIS, April 1.—At a recent meeting of the St. Louis Clearing-house Association, the question of adopting a memorial similar to that passed at Chicago, protesting against the passage of the Funding bill, was fully discussed and tabled by a very decided majority, all the national banks voting to lay it on the table. It is stated that Mr. CROENBOLD, now at Washington, is misrepresenting the national banks of this city in opposing the Funding bill. Yesterday telegrams signed by the representatives of the banks, voting as above, were sent to Washington, stating that a majority in number, capital and business of the banks of St. Louis favor the passage of the Funding bill as sent by the Senate to the House....HORACE GREELEY will deliver the opening address at the next fair of the St. Louis Agricultural and Mechanical Association, to be held Oct. 30....LYNCH, the ringleader of the riot on the steamer Dubuque last Fall, arrived here to-day from Arkansas, where he was arrested. HOLLISTER, Collector of United States Internal Revenue, had been elected one of the committee to prepare a memorial to Congress in favor of the modification of the Cullom bill. In a letter to the Deseret News of the 28th ult., Mr. HOLLISTER says he was not at the meeting, and authorized no one to make such use of his name.

A Woman Suffrage Discussion—A Refugee from the Red River.

CHICAGO, April 1.—A discussion on the woman suffrage question took place at Peoria last evening between Miss SUSAN B. ANTHONY, of New-York, and Prof. E. C. HEWITT, of the Illinois Normal University. The discussion lasted two hours. The Professor is said to have come off second best. It will be resumed to-night.

The Winterees, a tribe of half-breeds, buffalo hunters, have, it is reported, joined RIELL. They number several hundred.

THE PACIFIC COAST.

The Unemployed of San Francisco—Honors by a British Man-of-War to Gen. Thomas—Mail Service to Honolulu.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—Since the passage of the law constituting Mayor SELBY and two other city officials Commissioners, with authority to improve the city property, for the purpose of giving work to the numerous unemployed suffering laborers in this city, there has been unavoidable delay in perfecting the plans for the work, which has caused great disappointment and dissatisfaction among the poor people interested. Several public demonstrations have taken place, and at one time a riot was feared. A number of demagogues are endeavoring to make political capital out of this delay, but the good sense of the people frustrated their purpose. The Commissioners have decided upon their plans, and on Monday next a large number of laborers will be put to work grading and improving Yerba Buena Park.... On the departure of the steamer yesterday, conveying the remains of Gen. THOMAS, the English frigate Zealous, now lying in this harbor, fired minute guns, and displayed her flags at half-mast....Private advices from the Hawaiian Kingdom state that one of the first measures which will be brought before the Legislature by the Government will be a bill granting a subsidy for a mail service between the city and Australia via Honolulu. There is no doubt as to its passage.

Resistance to a Constable by Negroes in Philadelphia—One Man Shot.

PHILADELPHIA, April 1.—Last night Constable WILLIAM WHITESIDES went into a colored neighborhood in St. Mary-street to arrest CHAS. MORRIS (colored) on a warrant, and while attempting to make the arrest MORRIS resisted. A crowd collected, and the policeman was struck with a brick. MORRIS was armed with a knife, and was escaping, when the constable fired a revolver. The ball struck HARRY TRUEMAN, (colored,) causing death in a few minutes. The constable made his escape from the fury of the crowd, but was subsequently arrested and committed to await the result of the Coroner's inquest.

The Fifteenth Amendment in Maryland—Registration of Negroes—The Mayors' War in Richmond—An Incident of Southern Life.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 1.—Today the registration of negroes under the Fifteenth Amendment was begun in Towsontown, the county-seat of Baltimore County, seven or eight miles from this city. The registration is preparatory to the town election which takes place on Monday next. The town has recently been incorporated and the election will be the first under the new charter. It is estimated that the negroes will form about one-sixth of the voters of the town. This is the first instance of the registration of colored people in Maryland, or of preparations for qualifying them as voters. The House of Delegates of the State Legislature has already passed a bill complying with the requirements of the Fifteenth Amendment, and which will probably pass the State Senate to-morrow, as the Legislature will adjourn by limitation on Monday, unless the Governor calls an extra session.

RICHMOND, Va., April 1.—It has been quiet in the city today. ELLYSON has gone on exercising the functions of Mayor without interference from the United States authorities. So also has CAHOON. The Police of both Mayors are on the streets to-night. This morning ELLYSON'S Police surrendered the Second Station-house to CAHOON by mistake of their instructions. CAHOON made two demands for possession of the City Hall today, but ELLYSON refused to give it up.

SELMA, Ala., April 1.—A special dispatch to the Daily Times from Tuscaloosa, today, says:

"A shooting affray occurred here this morning between RYLAND RANDOLPH and a man named SMITH, a friend of VAUGHAN. SMITH and VAUGHAN came from the University, and while VAUGHAN remained behind on the opposite side of the street, SMITH went to where RANDOLPH was standing, it is said, and cried out, 'Stand aside,' and drew his pistol. RANDOLPH also drew his pistol, and both fired several shots. RANDOLPH was wounded in the leg and thigh, but not dangerously. SMITH was also slightly wounded. A bystander was killed. SMITH and VAUGHAN were both arrested. The people are greatly excited concerning the affair."

RICHMOND, Va., April 1—Evening.—This evening the matter was taken into the State Courts by ELLYSON, and Judge WELTFORD, of the Circuit Court, granted a mandamus and issued an injunction restraining CAHOON from exercising the duties of Mayor.

The Death of Gen. Thomas—Gen. Sheridan's Circular to the Army of the Cumberland.

CHICAGO, April 1.—The following is Gen. SHERIDAN'S circular announcing the death of Gen. THOMAS to the Army of the Cumberland:

To the Society of the Army of the Cumberland:

As the senior Vice-President of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland, the undersigned assumes the duty of making to the Society the saddest announcement it is possible for it to receive—that of the sudden and most unexpected death of the object of its supreme love and respect. Our President, Major-Gen. GEORGE H. THOMAS, is dead. True and modest, brave and trusted, the perfect type of a soldier and gentleman—he is no more. The army and the country have experienced an irreparable loss, but the loss sustained by his children of the old Army of the Cumberland is that of a beloved father. His noble life and deeds need not be recalled to them; they are as well known and will be as fondly remembered by every member of that old army as the dearest thing they possess. He died, as it was fitting he should, with his harness on, his fame without spot or blemish. It is requested that the usual badge of mourning be worn by the Society for thirty days. At its next meeting suitable steps will be taken for a full commemoration of our greatest loss.

P. H. SHERIDAN,
Lieutenant-General, Vice-President.

Another meeting of the Committee to make arrangements for the reception of Gen. THOMAS was held this afternoon. Gen. SHERIDAN said he had received a dispatch from Col. WILLARD, who has charge of the remains of Gen. THOMAS, saying that he should reach Chicago next Tuesday afternoon. They will probably leave for Troy the same evening over the Michigan Southern and New-York Central Roads. Gen. SHERIDAN to-day received the following dispatch from Gen. SHERMAN:

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 1, 1870.

To Gen. P. H. Sheridan, Commanding the Military District of Missouri:

I have telegraphed Col. WILLARD, in charge of Gen. THOMAS' remains, to consult with Mrs. THOMAS and to determine as to some of the details of the funeral. The funeral party should reach Troy, N. Y., by Thursday of next week, and if the burial is to be there, then Friday will be a proper day, as you must be at Philadelphia on Saturday, and the President also. If the body is properly prepared it could be taken from Troy to West Point on Monday, April 11, and the funeral take place on Tuesday, the 12th. Please have some one well out on the road at Bridger or Fort Saunders to see Col. WILLARD and get an answer on these points, that I may announce the day and ceremonies to the general public.

(Signed,) W. T. SHERMAN, General.

A Committee of fifty of our leading citizens, headed by Gen. J. D. WEBSTER and Mayor MANN, was appointed to act with Gen. SHERIDAN and staff.

Opening Proceedings in the Trial of Pierre Bonaparte.

Offensive Testimony of Irreconcilable Witnesses.

Funeral of Enrique de Bourbon in Madrid.

The steam-ship Donau, which left Bremen March 19, and Southampton March 22, reached this port yesterday. Her advices are later by two days than were those at hand by the Java.

The Paris papers announce the death of Dr. ROBERT WOODWORTH, Surgeon United States Navy, and that of M. VICTOR PARMENTIER, the architect selected for the restoration of the Hotel Carnavalet, lately purchased by the city for the formation of the Historical Museum of Paris.

"The physical state of the Empress CHARLOTTE," says the Temps, "has altered so much for the worse that she can no longer pay her visits as usual to the Château of Laeken. She has to be closely watched at the Palace of Tervueren, where the Queen of the Belgians goes to see her twice a week. Her mental alienation is now accompanied by fever, which confines her to her bed in a state of complete prostration."

Mme. PATTI had a narrow escape during her late return from Russia. She was traveling with her husband and attendants in one of those composite carriages which contain bed-chamber, sitting-room, &c., and had retired to rest, leaving a stove alight. In the middle of the night she was awoke by a burning sensation in the throat, and, on springing out of bed, was almost stifled by a mass of smoke. At her cries, the servants hastened to her, and they found that the stove had become over-heated and had set fire to the floor of the vehicle and to some of the furniture. Every one immediately set to work to extinguish the flames, but their efforts might have been useless had not the train then stopped at Bromberg to take in water, for on the German lines no means of communication exist between the passengers and the guard.

A Constantinople letter in the North-Eastern Correspondence says that secret information has reached the Porte that a revolutionary conspiracy has been formed in Greece for the purpose of assassinating the Sultan, and, in the confusion which would follow such an event, raising an insurrection among the Christian populations of Turkey. The date of the revolution is fixed for the 6th of April, anniversary of the revolution of 1821. Preparations are to be made for burning the Ottoman fleet by some sailors at Constantinople who belong to the conspiracy, and 2,000 Belgian rifles have been purchased for the use of the insurgents. At the same time a diversion is to be made by some foreign Power (Russia or Greece?) with the object of drawing the Ottoman troops from the capital.

A PRINCE'S CRIME.

After-Scenes of the Auteuil Tragedy—Convocation of the High Court at Tours—The Judges—Commencement of the Trial—Testimony of the Prince and of MM. De Fonvielle and Grousset.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PARIS, Monday, March 21.

It was my intention to have gone down to Tours to attend the trial of Prince PIERRE BONAPARTE, until I ascertained that the Paris Press had made such complete arrangements for reporting and telegraphing the details here from hour to hour, that a foreign correspondent comparing and digesting the different accounts would be likely to give a much better and clearer synopsis of the proceedings than he could probably do on the spot, unaided by a knowledge of stenography and the habit of reporting. The interest connected with the trial has besides been greatly weakened by the premature publication of the acte d'accusation by the London papers, one of which managed to get a copy of it despite the precautions of the legal authorities. The public have become convinced from the statement of the evidence for the defense contained in this document that the case made up for the prisoner, whether true or false, is of a character which will permit any jury well disposed toward the dynasty to give him the benefit of the doubts that may be inspired by it. I have analyzed the list of the panel, and I find that out of the eighty-seven names of which it is composed, thirty-two are Mayors or Ex-Mayors, while the rest are Judges de Paix, ex-sous Prefets, notaries, wealthy landed proprietors or large manufacturers, the greater portion of whom are decorated. Supposing Prince PIERRE BONAPARTE to have been the victim and VICTOR NOIR to be arraigned for his murder before a jury thus constituted, what chance do you think he would have of an acquittal? Knowing the vindictive feelings which prevail among the Government functionaries, at least among those appointed by the late Administration, against the Press, it is my opinion it would be but a slender one.

It is this impression, shared alike by the general public as well as by the Republicans, which has shorn the trial of a great portion of the interest that would otherwise have attended it. It is regarded in the light of a solemn farce, which will not succeed in convincing any one, either of the innocence of the prisoner, or of the case having been submitted to the proper tribunal. It would have been better for the interests for the Prince himself for it to have been taken before an ordinary jury. I believe that this was his own opinion as soon as he had had time to advise with his friends. Strong as is the belief which I entertain as to his culpability of a foul and most unprovoked murder, I do not think that if the case had been taken before the Cour d' Assizes the Prince could have been legally found guilty. The whole Bar, even including those most opposed to the Imperial family, are, I understand, agreed upon this point. The dynasty, therefore, as well as the prisoner himself, would have gained much if the privilege of having the case tried before an exceptional tribunal had been waived, for it is ridiculous to pretend that the law stood in the way of it. The Chambers, or at all events a Senatus Consultum, would at once have disposed of the difficulty. It would have done more to convince the masses of the sincerity of the liberalism of the new régime than all the doubtful compromises between personal and parliamentary government, which are now being elaborated into laws. The bad effect of an acquittal by a tribunal which not merely in its origin but in its actual constitution is suspecte, will hardly be counteracted by the exercise of the Imperial clemency in the case of the conspirator MEGY, which it is said has been decided upon in the event of his being found guilty of the murder of the Police Agent sent to arrest him.

THE JUDGES.

On Friday, about 3½, the Judges of the High Court arrived at Tours by the same train which brought the Princess PIERRE BONAPARTE. There was no ceremonial, the Judges having declined the honors that are usually paid to them on their arrival. The Mayor, the Procureur-General, the President of the Civil Tribunal, and several other eminent persons, were at the station awaiting them. M. GLANDAZ, the President, is about seventy years of age, and is small in stature, but stoutly built. His features are expressive of great acuteness, but are at the same time characterized by mildness and benevolence. He made the reputation, which procured him high judicial honors, in the Press prosecutions which took place between 1840 and 1848, when he filled the position of Advocate General at the Court of Assizes. He found himself opposed to the leading Republican advocates, such as CREMIEUX, JULES FAVRE and MARIE, and distinguished himself not merely by the ability with which he discharged an invidious and unpleasant duty, but by the courtesy and good temper with which he met the attacks of his opponents. M. ZANGIACOMI is about sixty years of age, and is the perfect type of an Italian Magistrate. He is a man of extreme distinction, both in appearance and manners, and has more the insinuating air of a diplomat than the measured dignity and gravity of a Judge. It was he who during the eventful period between 1832 and 1840 was charged, as juge d'instruction, with the examination of the persons involved in the numerous plots and conspiracies which occupied the attention of the authorities, and more especially with that of the accused of April and of FIESCHI. It will be remembered with what skill he extorted from the inventor of the infernal machine the confessions which it was so important to obtain from him. The Procureur-General GRANDPERRET is still young, and his rapid promotion to his present position has surprised every one. He was originally, I believe, a journalist and chief editor of the Salut Public at Lyons. It is said that he prepares carefully all his speeches, but if he does he must be gifted with a most excellent memory. It was he who conducted the prosecution against TRAUPMANN. The other members of the High Court are M. POUILLADE DE CARINERES, formerly chief of the division de culte in the ministry of justice, M. BOUCLY, the oldest in point of years, and formerly Procureur du Roi in Paris, and M. GASTAMBIDE, who comes from Amiens, and who formerly filled with distinction the office of Advocate-General.

PRINCESS PIERRE BONAPARTE.

If the arrival of the Princess PIERRE BONAPARTE was marked by no courtesies on the part of the authorities, it was compensated for by the attention of the crowd, who followed her with eager curiosity from the railway station to her hotel, to which she proceeded on foot, holding her children by the hand. No insult or unkindness was offered her by the populace. They probably remembered that she had been elevated to her present position from a station similar to their own, and they respected in the daughter of a mechanic the misfortunes that they might not have been inclined to pardon in the descendant of an aristocratic family. There was that in her appearance and demeanor, too, which commanded respect, if not sympathy. The Princess is about five-and-thirty years of age, and is tall, stout and of dark complexion. She has magnificent eyes and the most agreeable smile imaginable. There is no more devoted wife or mother; she goes out but little, and receives at house home at Auteuil only a few intimate friends. She has a great ascendancy over the Prince, and since the dreadful affair of the 10th of January, has employed it to render him patient during the long days of imprisonment, especially tedious for a man of his habits, which elapsed between his arrest and his removal to Tours.

FIRST DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

A telegraphic summary of the principal incidents of the first day's proceedings is at hand. The High Court of Justice had assembled, and the proceeding commenced at 11½ A. M. The Court had been crowded since 9½. All the civil and military authorities, as well as the mother and brother of the late VICTOR NOIR, were present.

Prince PIERRE BONAPARTE was introduced at 12:40 P. M., accompanied by a captain of gendarmerie. The jury having been sworn, the President read an address to the jury, explaining the exceptional jurisdiction in the present case, and their duties.

The interrogatory of the Prince was then proceeded with.

THE PRESIDENT—You were condemned in 1849?

PRINCE PIERRE—I was then grossly insulted.

THE PRESIDENT—An article to be regretted has been published by the Avenir Corse.

PRINCE PIERRE—I wished to defend the honor of my family.

On being questioned respecting the incidents at Auteuil, the Prince repeated exactly the recital made by him in his reply to the Judge d'Instruction.

"Why did you enter the saloon with a revolver?"

"I always carry a revolver."

"Your hand was on the revolver in your pocket?" To this the Prince made no reply, but stated afterward that M. DE FONVIELLE showed his pistol first.

"Why did you fire upon M. DE FONVIELLE who endeavored to escape?"

"M. DE FONVIELLE endeavored to fire and was taking aim."

A printed plan of the house of the Prince at Auteuil was distributed among the members of the jury, and the President gave some explanations.

By M. FLOCQUET, the counsel for the Noir family—Why was your pistol found fully loaded when you were arrested?

The PRINCE—I reloaded because I believed myself in danger from persons outside.

The sitting of the Court was then suspended for a short time.

The Court reassembled at 2:50 P. M. M. LALMAND, Secretary of M. ROIDOT, Commissioner of Police, read the deposition of M. DE FONVIELLE, made on the 10th of January, in which the Prince is accused of having struck a blow before firing.

M. DE FONVIELLE was then summoned into the witness-box. He repeated his version of the affair, and said he did not imagine that he was going to visit an assassin. The Prince replied: "Assassin, yourself," and proceeded to advert to the Orsini conspiracy. M. DE FONVIELLE, questioned by the President, declared that he himself was always armed; had he not been so he should have been killed at the Prince's house.

The Prince hereupon declared that M. FONVIELLE'S version was entirely false. The latter had invaded his house armed, and should not now be a witness but a defendant in the cause.

In reply to M. LEROUX, the Prince's counsel, M. DE FONVIELLE denied positively ever having said that the Prince had been struck by NOIR.

The witness, M. GROUSSET, manager of the Marseillaise, then arrived, attended by two gendarmes. On his entering the Court he said something not heard by the public, but which caused murmurs from the people outside. (He was asked if he was any relation of the accused, and replied: "His mother had so many lovers that it was possible.")

M. DE GRANDPERRET, the Procureur Impérial, told him that if he repeated this outrageous conduct he should be compelled to inflict a punishment upon him.

M. GROUSSET replied, but was interrupted by the President, who requested him to confine himself to the facts of the case.

M. GROUSSET then gave explanations at great length, and in the course of his observations said that Prince PIERRE'S crime had caused a universal affright, and that he (the witness) had never better understood the sad condition into which eighteen years of Imperial rule had plunged France.

M. DE GRANDPERRET hereupon rose and stated that he did not wish to demand any greater penalty than that which the witness was already suffering in prison, but he requested that the witness should be reconducted thither, and that his written deposition should be read to the Court. The President acceded to this request, and the sitting closed at 5 P. M.

THE DEAD BOURBON.

Funeral of Don Enrique in Madrid—A Revolutionary Incident.

Madrid (March 16) Correspondence Times.

The funeral of DON ENRIQUE DE BOURBON was solemnized yesterday. It was attended by none of the prominent men of the day, nor by any military display; yet it was witnessed by a greater number of people than any funeral I have ever seen in Spain. The route through which the procession had to pass—namely, Calle Arenal, Puerta del Sol, Calle Carretas, Calle Atocha, Plaza Mayor, and Calle Toledo, through the gate and over the famous old bridge of the same name to the Sacramental of San Isidro—was lined with dense crowds, who, to their credit be it said, behaved in the most orderly manner, quite contrary to the evil forebodings of many. With the exception of the memorable 29th of September, 1868, I have never seen the Puerta del Sol so packed. There had been some fears of a disturbance, or, at any rate, an anti-Montpensier demonstration, owing to anonymous placards appearing on Monday night on the walls, merely announcing, "The funeral of the victim of his love of liberty and of the national independence, will take place to-morrow at 1 o'clock." On the door of the house of the deceased there appeared a placard which read thus: "Here lived a BOURBON, the only loyal one of his race, who for speaking the truth, died on the field of honor. R. I. P." The funeral was perfectly non-political. It was at the expense and conduct of the Masonic lodges of Madrid, Don ENRIQUE having been an advanced member. The line was opened by thirty policemen, or "agents of public order" as they are called here. These had no weapons of any kind visible, but each carried a loaded revolver in his pocket and a sword under his great coat, as an incident which occurred at the cemetery gate subsequently proved. Two hundred hacheros—i. e. pauper men and boys—followed with lighted candles; then a band of music and twenty more policemen. Next came the hearse belonging to the Cemetery of San Isidro, for your readers must know that here the hearses belong to the cemeteries, and not to the undertakers. It had glass sides and top, so that the coffin could be plainly seen. It was drawn by six black horses, and preceded by two of the Alcaldes of the barrier. The coffin was of bronze, and said to be an exact copy of that in which ENRIQUE'S bitterest enemy, NARVAEZ, was buried. On the coffin were placed the sword, General's hat, and sash of the deceased, his Cross of CARLOS III., and various Masonic emblems. It was said that when the clergy went to the house with the intention to join in the funeral ceremonies they were so horrified at these Masonic emblems and other signs of the "craft" about the room that they took away every emblem of the Church, and refused to accompany the body. One worthy cura, however, Señor PULLIDO, volunteered to perform the last rites, and accompanied the procession, walking arm in arm with the Duke of SESA and Lieut. GUDI, two relatives of the deceased, immediately behind the hearse. The cintas, (long black ribands attached to the coffin,) were borne by four leading Freemasons. Some few Republican Deputies, 500 or 600 members of the Masonic lodges, walking six abreast, followed; then another band of music, 1,500 to 2,000 citizens, and about twenty carriages closed the procession. As the body left the house the bands played a funeral march, which they changed to the "Marseillaise" on entering the Puerta del Sol and recognizing Don NICOLAS MARIA RIVERO, the present Minister of the Interior, in the balcony of the Principal. Loud clapping of hands from the assembled thousands greeted the tune. A few cries of "Muera Montpensier!" ("Death to MONTPENSIER!") caused a commotion in the crowd, and they began to run; but the Police and the better-disposed people quickly restored order. Nothing particular occurred during the rest of the route, until the arrival at the cemetery, when an incident occurred which proves the dangerous elements at this moment existing in Madrid society, and the necessity of extreme circumspection on the part of the authorities. The cemetery itself could not hold a tenth part of those anxious to obtain admittance, and when it was full the Police kept the gate and refused to let any more pass. One working man, in his anxiety to enter, was pushed back somewhat roughly by a policeman, whom he immediately struck in the face. Instantly the policeman and his eighteen or twenty companions at the gate drew their revolvers; but the next instant they were confronted by hundreds of revolvers in the hands of the crowd. Appeals to the sacredness of the spot and the solemnity of the occasion, on the part of some present, restored calmness, and prevented what, for aught we know, might have been the beginning of another revolution, or rather the completion of that left unfinished in September, 1868. The incident was only momentary, but was suggestive. It is not recorded in any of the papers, but was mentioned to me by an eye-witness. The Priest PULLIDO performed the funeral rites of the Roman Catholic Church, and then all that was mortal of Don ENRIQUE DE BOURBON was placed in one of the niches, and his friends left the Cemetery. In one of the adjoining fields the crowds were addressed by some of the Republican Deputies, who, however, most properly avoided any effort to excite them.

ALBANY.

Reducing Canal Tolls—A General Election Law—The Conference Committee on the Excise Law—Bridging the Hudson—Talk of Adjournment.

ALBANY, Friday, April 1, 1870.

The joint resolution of Mr. HARDENBERGH to authorize the Canal Board to reduce tolls on the canals at their discretion, was under discussion in the Senate this morning, and was made the special order for further discussion Tuesday evening next. Senator PARKER took the ground that it was contrary to the express provisions of the Constitution for the Legislature to delegate the power of reducing canal tolls to the Canal Board or any other authority.

A GENERAL ELECTION LAW.

Mr. TWEED reported with amendments the bill that passed the Assembly providing for the election of inspectors and canvassers by the people. The "amendments" amount substantially to a new bill, which is, in the main, the same as the Election bill that accompanied Charter No. 1, introduced by Mr. FREAR. It is the intention to make this bill the special order for the same time as the last charter, which will probably be on Tuesday morning next. The Republican Senators can then insist, if they choose, on first passing an election bill before they aid in putting through the new charter. This they will probably do, and the anxiety of the friends of the charter to get their votes in its favor will put it in their power to shape the Election law to suit themselves. Thus through the quarrels of the Democratic factions the Republicans are enabled to secure legislation in the interest of the people.

THE EXCISE BILL.

The Conference Committee of the two Houses, appointed a fortnight ago to try and agree upon an Excise bill, having failed to come to an agreement, Senator CREAMER this morning moved to discharge the Senate Committee, and that the Senate rescind its action whereby it refused to concur in the amendments made to the Excise bill in the Senate. A lengthy discussion occurred on points of order, Mr. PARKER taking the ground that the Senate could take no further action in the premises until the Senate branch of the Joint Committee made its report. Mr. CREAMER contended that there was no report to make, as there had been no conference of the two Committees, while Mr. PARKER, who was a member of the Committee, insisted that there had been a conference, at which every section of the bill was taken up and voted on. It appeared, on further explanations, that the only member of the Assembly branch of the Conference Committee who attended the conference was Mr. FIELDS. The President ruled in favor of CREAMER, and both he and GENET tried to get immediate action on the motion to rescind the former action of the Senate and concur with the Assembly amendments, but Mr. TWEED insisted that the opposition had a right to be heard, and, as it was likely to lead to a lengthy debate, the whole subject was postponed to Tuesday evening next. The facts are that no bill so liberal to the liquor-dealers could again pass the Assembly if the question were submitted anew, and thus the champions of free liquor in the Senate are obliged to concur in the few restrictions imposed by the Assembly or get no Excise law at all. The principal features of the bill, as it stands, have already been published. It expressly permits the sale of lager-beer on Sundays, in all the cities of the State, and is so loosely drawn as in effect to permit the sale of all liquors on that day.

REMOVING THE NAVY-YARD.

Senator TWEED offered a resolution, which was unanimously adopted, requesting our Congressmen to oppose the proposed transfer of the Brooklyn Navy-yard to New-London, Conn., on the ground that such action would be unfair to workingmen and mechanics of this State.

ABOUT ADJOURNMENT.

There is a good deal of talk in both Houses of adjourning sine die on the 15th of April. A canvass of the Assembly was made yesterday, and it is said a majority of members were in favor of it. A large number of bills were, on motion, today taken from the General Orders and referred to standing committees to report complete, and the Senate appointed a Special Committee of nine to do the same thing for that body. There is not much danger of adjournment, however, so long as there are any jobs pending that "have money in them." Impecunious Democrats will never consent to go home empty-handed.

RIGHTS OF PASSENGERS.

The following is the bill introduced by Mr. FIELDS, and subsequently reported to-day:

First—Any railroad corporation within this State which has heretofore charged, or authorized, or permitted to be charged, or which shall do so hereafter for a period of ninety days or more, a greater sum per mile for the fare of passengers than that limited by the law, shall be deemed, and is hereby declared to have forfeited its corporate rights and privileges.

Second—It shall be the duty of the Attorney-General upon the filing of any information of such violation and forfeiture, to institute legal proceedings in the name of the people, and in the Supreme Court by petition or complaints for the dissolution of the Company so violating its corporate restrictions, and for the appointment of a receiver of its corporate property.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

THE FAMILY AND THE CHURCH. Advent Conferences of Notre Dame, Paris, 1866-7, 1868-9. By Rev. FATHER HYACINTHE, edited by LEONARD WOOLSEY BACON. With an introduction by JOHN BIGELOW, Esq., late Minister of the United States at the Court of France. New-York: G. P. PUTNAM & SON.

The sensation which was produced by the advent of the Superior of the Monastery of the Barefooted Carmelites of Paris, in this City, has subsided with his departure, and the public will, therefore, be able to judge this second volume of his discourses with more freedom and less prejudice than while he was in a certain sense our guest. The introduction by Mr. BIGELOW is a reprint of the article upon Father HYACINTHE and his Church, which appeared in Putnam's Magazine for January last. The portion of the present volume, however, that will naturally attract most interest is that which contains the lectures delivered in Notre Dame in 1866-7 upon "The Family." In these lectures the general scheme of human society is considered, and the place of domestic society in this scheme defined. Conjugal society is next viewed as the foundation of domestic society, and as related to God the Creator and Redeemer; its corruptions occupy the third lecture. Fatherhood, education, and home are the subjects of the three remaining lectures.

The six conferences of 1868-9 are too rough and fragmentary to give satisfaction to the reader, after reading the carefully-prepared and revised sketches of 1866-7, although they are of great interest on account of their subject to both Protestants and Catholics. Father HYACINTHE appears to much better advantage in this work than in the hasty volume which was first published, and we recognize with fresh pleasure his eloquence and learning as well as his broad and just views of society and education. Some extracts from the discourses of 1866 will illustrate these remarks. In exhibiting the relative importance of domestic society he speaks as follows:

"Show me families worthy the name—true domestic commonwealths, father and mother, King and minister, enthroned together in the midst of the circle of their children, talking to them of ancestors, of honor, of duty, and being hearkened to—commanding in respect, and, still more, in love, and being obeyed; show me a father, king in his own house, and so much the more free in the world without, as he is authoritative in the world within; show me homes like these, and I will show you republics! The genuine free citizen is the father respected and obeyed at home. It is out of such sturdy materials as this that lasting social order can be built."

In another discourse, conjugal society is shown to be the basis of domestic society, and in the peroration virginity is extolled as superior even to marriage.

"A young Christian married pair were one day sailing over the Adriatic, reading in the pages of a pure book, and deeper yet in the pages of their own pure hearts. The words which they read from without, and to which they hearkened to from within, were these: 'Is it not misery to love for this life only? Have you no longing for eternal love?' Ah! it is the misery, the longing of us all; the misery of transient love and the longing for eternal love! I know indeed that the love of husband and wife shall continue in another form in future ages, and it is from some delicate, subtle apprehension of this that the Church has derived the repugnance it feels for second nuptials, to which it refuses the solemn benediction of the priest. There is a love and fidelity beyond the tomb, a love for eternity. But, after all, this love is no longer conjugal; for in conjugal love, exalted as I have deemed it, there are two profound infirmities. It is too earthly, the senses are always fallen; it is too exclusive, and in the heart itself, elevated as it is above the senses, it too much absorbs two individual beings each in the other, at the expense of great loves and sacrifices for humanity. Therefore it is that Jesus Christ, when questioned by the Jews on the mystery of the life to come, answered, 'In the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are as the angels of God.' No more marrying and giving in marriage, in the earthly sense; and yet there is a grand continuance of love; there is the latest bloom of what I have called the tree of life, the consummate flower of love, virginity."

In the discourse upon Fatherland considered as the means of the reproduction of the individual, occurs the following eloquent passage:

"Have you seen, gentlemen, in our ancient forest an old oak bending under the weight of centuries, and almost ready to crumble into dust? Before the catastrophe, it has foreseen it, we might say, by the sure instinct of nature, and has sown around itself young and vigorous offshoots, full of its sap, and lusty with its life. Man also is to die. The tree bends beneath the weight of its peaceful centuries; more less happy beneath the burden of his few and evil years. But he, also, has made of himself twain—one he leaves to fade away in death and wither in the tomb; he sees the other springing into life and shooting out into the future. It is his own flesh that buds and flowers again in this other flesh; it is his own bones that, renewing their youth, are the framework that supports it; it is his blood which flows and throbs in these veins, and his heart which lives again in this heart. Carve thy wrinkles on my brow, old age! Whiten my head with the chill and dreary blast that breathes from out the place of tombs! Thrust me, bowed and unresisting, down that steep decline which no one reascends! I have vanquished death by fatherhood, his dart is broken by the hands of my children! 'Oh grave! where is thy victory! Oh death, where is thy sting!'"

THE RULE OF THE MONK. By Gen. GARIBALDI. New-York: HARPER & BROTHERS. 1870.

A lively interest attaches to the writings of a man to whose courage and brilliant achievements the world's tribute of homage has so often been paid. While the special mission of GARIBALDI is by no means accomplished, while he is still indulging the hope that through his means Rome may become the capital of united Italy, he takes advantage of a period of inaction to draw a picture of the disorders arising from a mixture of temporal and spiritual authority in the Government. He aims to show that the influence of the Papacy is more fatal in its effects upon the people of Italy than the miasma of the Pontine marshes. Like DANTE, he is terrible in his denunciation of false priests, and his narrative—founded on personal experience—is well fitted to awaken the sympathy of readers for the cause he has advocated. The book is full of touching incidents, of characters sketched with firm and bold outlines, and details which painfully reveal the secrets of the prison-house Those, especially, which relate to convent-life, are revolting in the extreme, such as we should scarcely be inclined to credit upon less trustworthy authority. Of himself, the General tells us but little, and that only when the active part he takes in the story requires that he should be mentioned. Once only he pauses to speak of his devoted wife ANITA, his inseparable companion, whose death occurred under peculiarly distressing circumstances, while he and his little band of followers were pursued by Austrian troops and the Papal Police. A book coming from one possessed of such opportunities for forming a correct judgment, ought to be of great value, and would be so in the present instance had it assumed a more important form than that of the "novella;" but a volume which shall be at once a history and a romance, must needs run the risk of being neither the one nor the other, but something only to be read while it possesses the charm of novelty. The great idea conveyed by GARIBALDI is, that the temporal power of the Pope—which MACHIAVELLI assumes to be incompatible with Italian unity—should be abolished; that what ROSSI has called "the last living grandeur of Italy," should be destroyed, that thus the political millenium of her people may be established.

There is more malignity, vulgarity and bad taste collected and embodied in this volume than we have had the ill-luck to meet with for some. The author was the son of Lady MARY WORTLEY MONTAGU, a woman celebrated for her wit and learning, who before the age of twenty made an admirable translation of the "Enchiridion" of EPICTETUS, and whose letters won for her an enviable reputation. Her later years were passed in writing and study, but even in her seclusion the family ties between herself, her husband and her daughter remained unbroken. That her son may have had reason to deplore the absence of her loving eye and guiding hand is most likely; but that he should therefore hold his mother up to shame, and his father to ridicule and contempt, seems to us a crime too monstrous to find palliation in the neglect of which he complains. Nor are Mr. MONTAGU'S slanders confined to his own family; some of the most honored names of England are sought to be contaminated by the passions and prejudices which discolor his every page. We cannot, therefore, be too cautious in receiving the evidence of this mass of ribaldry and stupidity, which is only variegated by some characteristics of a more disgusting kind. Those who take the trouble to read the volume will, we feel sure, agree with us that it was not without justice that Mr. MONTAGU was in his own day called "a miserable compound of levity and villainy."

DIALOGUES FROM DICKENS. Arranged by W. ELIOT FETTE, A. M. Boston: Published by LEE & SHEPARD. 1870.

Few are capable of making appropriate selections from a favorite author, either for reading or recitation, and few are willing to take the trouble of doing so for others. Mr. FETTE has rendered an important service, therefore, to those who are ambitious of entertaining their friends after this now popular fashion. He has arranged forty-five dialogues from works familiar to all intelligent readers, consisting of choice specimens of the wit, satire and playfulness for which Mr. DICKENS is eminently distinguished, and which, as they stand, are exquisite little fragments that, like BACON'S Grains of Salt, give an appetite for the remainder of the works from which they are taken.

It seemed to us that their affirmative testimony that there was such a law was better than our negative recollection."

H. GAYLORD, Treasurer of the Avondale Relief Fund, reports that up to the 28th ult. he had received as contributions, $139,226 33; interest on investments, $1,568 38; total, $140,794 61. This amount he has used as follows: Paid for railroad and Government bonds, $64,765 67; deposited in six banks on call and ten days at five and six per cent., $52,000; paid out to widows, orphans, &c., on requisition of directors, $22,142 36; balance on his hands, $1,886 58. The widows received $16 67 per month, and the children $8 33 per month.

The funeral of PIERRE SOULE took place in New-Orleans on Sunday last. Gen. BEAUREGARD was one of the pall-bearers. A local paper says: "The procession was headed by several clergymen and acolytes of the Cathedral. None of the carriages were occupied, and a very large number of ladies present testified their respect for the memory of the deceased and for his family, by walking in front of the cortege immediately after the hearse. Not less than twelve or fifteen hundred ladies and gentlemen were in the long line. Few of the leading members of the bar were absent, and, with the elite of the down town population, were intermingled many of the oldest and most respected citizens above Canal-street.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The Bombay and the Oneida.

I have been examining the evidence submitted to the Court at Yokohama, in relation to this collision, to see which steamer was to blame. I adhere to my first opinion that the Bombay was, in blindly adhering to the rule of when you meet a vessel nearly head on of putting the helm to port instead of starboarding it, as she should have done by rule 9 "of preventing collisions." That rule says: A sees B on his starboard bow, B's green light exposed; B should see A's green light as well; both vessels should put their helms to starboard.

To understand the case, I would say that the Bay of Yeddo, on which Yokohama is situated, resembles New-York Bay. The place where the collision took place is about twelve miles from Yokohama, and the narrows there is about two miles in width. By the testimony of Mr. YATES, the deck officer of the Oneida, she was outside of the anchorage at 5¾ P. M., going at the rate of six knots, and steering south by east quarter east, the proper course. At 7:20 he saw the masthead and green lights of the Bombay, coming round Konosoki Point. Mr. MULDAUX, the navigating officer of the Oneida, also saw the green light of the Bombay about three miles distant. The Oneida was then headed more to the east for a short time, the wind being north-east. She then kept her course. When the Bombay was a mile off, three points on the starboard bow, he saw her put her helm to port. By this new direction she headed right for the Oneida's starboard green light. The helm of the Oneida was put to starboard, but the Bombay ran into and sunk her.

The testimony of the man at the wheel and the look-out on the starboard bow of the Oneida is to the same effect, that they saw the Bombay first about a half a point on the starboard bow of the Oneida, then further aft, then heading direct for the Oneida, until she ran into her—a repetition of the manœuvre on the ship Kate Dwyer off this port.

Of course I do not believe Capt. EYRE'S statement, which is in direct opposition to those above; but when his brutality in leaving men to drown is remembered, perjury could not add to his crime. The Court that acted upon his case were all his countrymen. The sentence, six months' suspension, is so inadequate to what I think he should have received, that the whole performance may be put into the Alabama budget for settlement, unless the home Government have a new examination.

GEO. W. BLUNT.

The Manhattan and the Samaria.

We regret that in your issue of today you should renew the complaints made against Capt. FORSYTH, of the Manhattan, for the alleged refusal, on his part, to render assistance to the Samaria. Capt. FORSYTH has denied the truth of the charges made against him; but upon his arrival at Liverpool the Company would investigate the matter, and if he be proven guilty of such inhuman conduct you and the public may rest assured that he will be properly dealt with. Passengers who were on board the Manhattan concur in the statement made by Capt. FORSYTH, the truthfulness of which is more deeply impressed upon our minds since conversing with a cabin passenger by the Samaria. The facts we understand to be as follows: The Samaria was seen under full sail, to the windward of the Manhattan, and from all that could be known on board of the latter steamer, the Samaria could have borne down toward her and hove to, but she did not, nor did she lower her top-gallant sail. Flags were set, but they could not be made out, except the ensign, which was not "union down;" and there was nothing whatever to show that she was in distress, which, by the way, could hardly have been the case, as, when spoken by the two sailing vessels in sight at the same time with the Manhattan, she declined any assistance. In order to get a correct view of the case, it should be borne in mind that the two steamers were not less than six miles distant from each other at the time mentioned. Could we for a moment think a commander of Capt. FORSYTH'S well-known character and occupying such a responsible position, justly chargeable with gross inhumanity upon the high seas, there would still be a difficulty in understanding how he could so neglect the interests of his owners and his own in promptly tendering every assistance in his power, even to the carrying of the Samaria's passengers into port with all possible dispatch.

From the Albany Argus, April 1.

On the third trial the Democrats of New-York found a charter they can agree upon; one, too, which, in the Assembly, met the approval of the Democrats of the interior, and was acceptable to most of the Republicans.

If this agreement had not been arrived at—if the representatives of the City continued to disagree—it was the purpose of the Democrats of the counties outside of New-York to introduce bills repealing the Commissions and mongrel Boards, the creation of the central power under Radical influence, and leave the Metropolis to solve the question of self-government as best it could.

For our part, the Argus urged—and it was the only recommendation that it made—that the differences in the City be submitted to the arbitration of a legislative caucus. The suggestion was approved by the leading representatives of both sections of the party in New-York. It has not proved necessary in the Assembly, and may not be needed in the Senate. But it is an arbitrament to which Democratic Representatives may always judiciously resort.

The Charter just passed the Assembly is said to be an improvement upon the two propositions that preceded it. It may be imperfect, but its errors can be corrected as they develop themselves in practice. Its main feature is correct. It gives self-government to New-York. That is the doctrine to which the Democratic Party is pledged, by its resolutions, reiterated in many conventions. That pledge redeemed, and the people are content. That pledge falsified, and the Democratic representatives must answer for it before their constituencies.

The expressions of concurrence in the provisions of the bill, which came from all sides, were remarkable for their unanimity. Mr. ALVORD pronounced the charter "the best he had ever seen relating to New-York City." Mr. LITTLEJOHN said "he had opposed the policy of his party in imposing commissions upon the City of New-York. That had always been his position. He would now throw back upon that City the responsibility of local self-government. He voted yea.

Mr. KIERNAN, who had so eloquently advocated the previous charter, and so plaintively deplored its defeat, frankly accepted the situation. He saw the bright sun shining upon the united Democracy—the Sun of York—"and all the clouds that lowered upon our house in the deep bosom of the ocean buried." MELSON, of Rockland, and SNOW, of Otsego, who represent rural constituencies, followed in the same vein.

The bill is with the Senate. We hope its action will be prompt and patriotic.

Why Gen. Thomas Refused Leave of Absence to an Officer.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal, March 8.

Just after the battle of Nashville, Col. WATKINS, on Gen. THOMAS' staff, approached the General with a free and cordial manner, as if the request he was about to make could not be denied. "General, you know I have a sweetheart, Miss ROUSSEAU, whom I have not seen for months. A leave of absence, if you please, for — weeks." To the dismay of poor WATKINS, THOMAS shrugged his shoulders. WATKINS seeing that some intercession was necessary, reminded the General of his youth, the ardor of such years and such attachments, and referred to some probable history of the General in such matters. Gen. THOMAS quietly and soldierly replied, "WATKINS, I've been there; and the truth is that I, too, have a sweetheart; and I have not seen her for more months than you have yours for so many weeks. And, what is more, I have been married to my sweetheart, and want to see her as much as you do yours, and it is likely more. But I won't let her come to camp. A camp is no place for a wife. She is out of her element, and it softens man. And I won't go to see my wife till my duty is ended and the war over. What I will not do myself I will not allow you to do. Besides, I have a 'raid' to make in Mississippi and Alabama, and I decided this morning that you were the man to lead it. You will please report for duty at 6 A. M."

Col. WATKINS married the daughter of Gen. ROUSSEAU about the close of the war; died in New-Orleans, and his body was brought, with that of his distinguished father-in-law, a few months ago, for interment in our beautiful cemetery at Cave Hill.

A Generous Gift.

Three of the trustees of the Children's Aid Society completed the purchase, yesterday, of the Boys' Lodging-house, at No. 211 West Eighteenth-street, near Seventh-avenue, and presented the building to the Society as a permanent benefaction for the poor children of that needy portion of the City. The cost was $14,000. The building will lodge 100 boys; it contains, beside the rooms for the Superintendent, an audience-room, where a night-school is held; a room for a day industrial school, and a free reading-room in the evening, and a dining-room, bath-room and kitchen, with two floors for dormitories.

The neighborhood was the head-quarters, it will be remembered, of the infamous "Nineteenth-street gang." It is to be hoped that this generous example will be followed by other liberal gentlemen of the City.

"WOMAN IS COMING."

Miss Lilian Edgarton and Woman's Rights—Lecture at the Cooper Institute Last Evening—Woman Needs Education.

Miss EDGARTON had a good audience at Cooper Institute last evening, among whom were many of the champions of the suffrage movement in this City. As Miss EDGARTON appeared on the platform, led by Hon. HORACE GREELEY, she was greeted with applause. The lady is exceedingly prepossessing in appearance, and possesses a fine, clear and well-trained voice. She has a graceful figure, slightly above the medium, and was dressed elegantly, yet in exceedingly good taste.

Mr. GREELEY said: Ladies and gentlemen, there has been a good deal of discussion about woman's sphere and her appropriate work. To me much of this discussion has appeared inappropriate and unprofitable. Her proper work is what she can do usefully and well. What that work is can only be determined by trial. The lady whom I have the pleasure of introducing to you this evening is a stranger among us. Let us hope that she will be so no longer.

On being introduced to the audience, Miss EDGARTON, in a quiet, self-possessed and easy manner, began her lecture. She took it for granted, as a foregone conclusion, that woman was coming with powers and faculties, with rights and privileges, of a higher order than now, and that in time she might even possess the ballot. The danger was not so much that she would not get it, as that it would come to her before she was ready for it. In her opinion, the advocates of woman suffrage make three great mistakes. They underrate the power of woman as she is; they hope to elevate the ballot without improving the quality of the voter, and they expect of woman what she cannot accomplish. Once woman was content to remain secluded at home; then the convent was made her school; now a world of activity was open for her. She desired to practice medicine and to preach, and pulpits and medical colleges were opened to her. She desired to teach, and the doors of the school-house swung open for her. She entered the field of fiction-writing—the works of GEORGE ELIOT, Mrs. STOWE and others attested her success. Upon the platform, ANNA DICKINSON vindicated woman's power as a lecturer. If she desired to practice law, let her first show her capacity to do so, and she would gain the right. If she wanted the ballot, let her first show her ability to legislate socially for her sex, and a powerful party would arise, saying "We want your aid." If woman would only do thorough work, she might well-nigh capture the world, and carry it upon her shoulders. But woman had never known the power of organization. Men formed organizations for social, business, literary and political purposes, and woman could never hope to do anything for her sex until she threw aside local and petty jealousies and, combined to try the power of organized and united effort. Owing to woman's proneness to draw general conclusions from single examples, she was unfitted for legislation. But in matters of domestic life, the care and education of children, social reforms and the training of servants, consisted woman's sphere. American girls scorned domestic service as degrading, and rushed to overcrowded employments. This it was in the power of women to reform by making service desirable, and by educating girls to a true appreciation of the dignity of labor. An indirect effect of woman's associating would be to bring rich women into sympathy with their poorer sisters.

Miss EDGARTON then quoted THEO. PARKER'S assertion that this country was governed by a few hundred wire-pullers, and asserted her belief that in the event of woman's voting, the country would be ruled by, at most, some 1,200 persons. As to the inalienable right to vote, universal male suffrage afforded but a poor precedent, for two wrongs never made one right. To the cry, "Woman is needed at the helm," she would reply that the abuses spring not from male suffrage, but from unregulated universal suffrage. The lecturer favored competitive examinations, which should place the offices in the hands of the best men, and of the best women as well. HENRY WARD BEECHER declared that universal suffrage was safe if followed by education, which proved that he considered it unsafe without it. The curse of party spirit, and the hates and asperities it engendered, were next discussed, and Miss EDGARTON declared that woman, possessed of a strong emotional nature, warm in her love and bitter in her hate, would exhibit the traits of partisanship more prominently than men and add much to the asperities and turmoil of political life. She denounced as unworthy the aspersion that woman without the ballot was placed on a level with idiots, paupers and lunatics, and below the negroes, and replied to the charges against men, of corruption, by saying that if Patrick sold his vote for a glass of whisky Bridget would be no less likely to sell hers for a purple bonnet with blue strings. Again, if women voted they must hold offices, and it would be no more than fair to give them half. With the number of candidates thus doubled, and the number of offices remaining the same, the struggles and bitterness of a canvass would be immensely increased, as was thought by many of woman's most chivalric friends.

The speaker then depicted the chivalry of man in high colors, and drew a pointed contrast between the case of a poor man sueing a rich woman for breach of promise, and a poor girl sueing a rich man. The former would be laughed out of Court, while the latter gets justice, tempered with bountiful liberality in the shape of heavy damages. Woman's injustice to woman was next touched upon. The lecturer adverted to the old story of the betrayer and betrayed; the latter an outcast forever from the society of the pure of her sex; the former received, flattered and caressed. If women could not befriend their own sex, how could they expect men to do it? Let them cease talking about purifying politics and legislation until they had purified society and extended the same punishment to the author of a crime as to its victim. All women needed was social equality, (which they could gain themselves,) and the removal of some legal disabilities. Miss EDGARTON favored an amendment to the Constitution placing the granting of divorces in the hands of Congress and insuring a uniform rule; the opening of all occupations to women, except for the cause which excluded men from them—incapacity—the equality of the mother with the father in the disposal of the children, &c. Women had exaggerated ideas as to the power of the ballot. It would not increase the wages of the working girls. The non-naturalized foreigner received the same pay for the same work as the native voter. The quickest way to disenchant her was to place her in non-political societies, where she might prepare herself intelligently to excercise her power, when she should receive it. In conclusion Miss EDGARTON summed up: Woman wants the ballot only when fitted for it; unpolitical associations tend to the development of woman's capabilities; real emancipation must come from herself, never from the ballot; her legal disabilities were few and easily removed; her social disabilities could only be removed by individual effort. With a brilliant prophecy of women's greatness and power in the future, Miss EDGARTON closed her interesting and able lecture, which was listened to throughout with marked attention, and received during its delivery frequent and hearty applause.

Meeting of the Advocates of Woman Suffrage.

The usual monthly meeting of the local branch of the Woman's Bureau was held at Room No. 24 Cooper Institute yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance, including many new faces.

Dr. HALLOCK presided. The Secretary read a communication from Mrs. WILBOUR, excusing herself from attending on the plea of illness. A Mrs. DAVIS sent word that she had delivered the first woman suffrage lecture ever delivered in Florida. The Secretary moved that delegates be appointed to the National Woman's Suffrage Association Convention, to be held in the Cooper Institute on the 10th of May.

Mrs. Hallock, Mrs. Tompkins, Miss Clara Norris, Mrs. Poole, Mrs. Binck, Mrs. Stearns and Mrs. Tucker were appointed delegates.

A resolution of sympathy with Dr. SUSAN M. SMITH, of Philadelphia, who is in some difficulty with the revenue officers, was adopted.

Mrs. MARY DAVIS, of New-Jersey, made a lengthy address. She rehearsed all the old arguments for woman suffrage, and combatted some of the objections. She did not think it logical to say that only the poor and the ignorant women would vote. A man was considered derelict if he did not do his duty as a citizen, and the same would be true with regard to women. Then the argument that women should sit as jurors on account of the nature of the testimony in certain criminal cases, was alluded to. Mrs. DAVIS said this argument would be valid if no women were brought into Court as criminals. But they were, and women were entitled to be tried by their peers. The case of HESTER VAUGHAN was a case in point.

Dr. HALLOCK, Mrs. BLAKE and Mrs. LEGGATT discussed the question of the hour. Mrs. LEGGATT, who was dressed in the costume of a female Admiral, said she had no doubt but what there would be proper places for women to vote in due course of time. Often, when walking home with her husband in the evening, she felt as though she wanted a drop of lager, but there was no proper place to get it. After some general discussion the meeting adjourned.

Ticket Agents' Convention.

The Association of Railway Ticket Agents held the concluding session of its convention at the Fifth-avenue Hotel yesterday afternoon. No material changes were made in the general rates of fare. It was determined, however, to make a reduction in the case of parties of colonists going to Western settlements, varying from fifteen to thirty-three per cent., according to the number in a party.

After being entertained in a handsome manner at the Fifth-avenue Hotel on Thursday evening, the delegates were invited by Mr. JAMES FISK, Jr., to witness the [illegible] at his Opera-house, which they did with great satisfaction. After the performance they were taken to the palatial offices of the Erie Company, where a sumptuous banquet had been prepared. Of this they partook with the gusto of healthy railroad men. There were toasts and speeches, and Prince Erie "let himself out" in a brilliant oratorical effort, which convulsed the company for half an hour. The Association have been well pleased with their entertainment in New-York.

THE LATE MAJOR-GEN. THOMAS.

Meeting of Officers of the Army of the Cumberland—Remarks of Gen. Rosecrans—Resolutions of Respect and Condolence.

The ex-officers of the Army of the Cumberland, (such of them at least as reside in this City, or are at present stopping here temporarily,) met at the Astor House, yesterday afternoon, to take action concerning the death of the late Major-Gen. GEORGE H. THOMAS.

Major-Gen. W. S. ROSECRANS was called to the chair. He stated that the object of the meeting was to take action to express the sorrow the officers of the Army of the Cumberland feel at the loss the nation and they, his friends and comrades, had sustained in the death of Major-Gen. GEORGE H. THOMAS. I knew him, said Gen. ROSECRANS, from the time he was a cadet; and I have, since then, often pointed him out as having a striking resemblance to the great WASHINGTON; I have enjoyed the honor of his intimate friendship for many years, and to me, therefore, this blow is a severe one. I cannot express my sorrow at the death of this lamented officer and gentleman. I dined with him in San Francisco previous to my voyage to New-York, after my return from Mexico, and he then gave promise of a long and useful life. He was my faithful, my fast friend. His record is without a blemish. He was true to his country, and ever considered it his highest honor to serve her. A soldier without a stain, a man of high moral character, a patriot in every sense of the word, his virtues had fairly crystalized themselves in his character, and there was no likelihood of any change in him. Such men are seldom found in any country, and when they die their loss is felt by a whole people. It is one of the notes of a nation's grandeur, of a nation's integrity, to honor the memory of such an one, for in so doing it but adds to its own renown. I hope that such action may now be taken by the officers of the Army of the Cumberland as shall evince the high esteem in which we, his friends and comrades, hold his memory. The General then said that, as he was not a resident here, he had no suggestions to make; he would defer to such officers as resided in New-York as to the course of action that should be pursued. During the delivery of these few remarks Gen. ROSECRANS was evidently much affected with sorrow, his voice being tremulous and husky.

On motion, Maj.-Gen. JOSEPH HOOKER was then made Vice-President of the meeting, and Maj. M. H. BRIGHT was elected Secretary.

Gen. MCKAY moved that a Committee be appointed to draft suitable resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting, which was carried, and the following gentlemen were appointed:

Gen. A. J. McKay, Col. W. W. Berry, Gen. Charles Thompson, Col. Charles H. Lewis and Capt. S. B. Lawrence. The Committee retired and soon afterward reported the following resolutions:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to take away from us, in the prime of his manhood and usefulness, our illustrious and beloved commander, Major-Gen. GEORGE H. THOMAS, we, who had the honor to serve under him do

Resolve, That we shall ever hold in grateful remembrance the gallant officer who led us to so many victories, and served his country with such distinguished zeal, and who, dying childless, left us, who loved him as a father, to mourn his loss and revere his memory.

Resolved, That, as a mark of our sincere affection for him, we unite with our comrades in the last offices of respect, by participating in his obsequies at Troy; and, at his sacred grave, renew our vows of fidelity to the Republic he loved, and fought so bravely and successfully to sustain and perpetuate.

Resolved, That out of our regard and affection for his memory, we wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to his bereaved widow, with whose affliction we sincerely sympathise, and that a copy be also forwarded to Gen. IRVIN MCDOWELL, commanding the Department of the East.

Resolved, That those proposing to attend the funeral be requested to register their names at the Astor House at least two days previous thereto, and that those who have corps badges be requested to wear them on the occasion.

Resolved, That the thanks of this meeting be tendered to Major STETSON for the use of this room.

The resolutions were unanimously adopted, and the meeting adjourned subject to the call of the Chair.

An Accomplished Swindler—Caution to the Public.

A correspondent sends us the following: "A man called at my residence in Brooklyn on Saturday evening last, representing himself as one of the firm of ELLISON, HOLLIS & CO., insurance agents of Boston, saying that he had been robbed on landing from Philadelphia and needed $30 to pay the expenses of himself and two ladies to Boston. Knowing the firm well, and he answering my inquiries satisfactorily, I unhesitatingly let him have the money. By a letter from Boston I learn that probably the same man has practiced a like swindle on several parties there (and I also have heard of one or two cases here) by telling the same story. He is about five feet eight inches high, slight built, has sandy hair, is slightly bald, has a smooth, round pale face, is about thirty-five years old, well-dressed, rather quiet and pleasant, very gentlemanly and business-like in manner. Boston and other papers will do well to copy the above and guard the public against an accomplished swindler."

Criminal Action Against a Bankrupt.

RAMON S. LATORRE was committed by Commissioner BETTS, yesterday, to await the action of the Grand Jury, on a charge of fraudulent bankruptcy, a portion of his property, it is alleged, having been concealed and accounted for by fictitious names. The evidence showed that he drew about $29,000 from bank shortly before his failure, and then, as alleged, falsely asserted that he lost part of this in a horse-railroad car, and gave part back to a tobacco speculator for investment. Mr. LATORRE is represented to have been a merchant in high standing, and an importer of tobacco.

The Newburg and Midland Railroad.

At a large meeting of citizens of Newburg in the Opera-house at that place, on Thursday evening, to consider the interests of the proposed Newburg and Midland Railroad, the Committee on Subscriptions, through Mr. B. C. BARTLETT, made their report, which showed that about $105,000 had been pledged toward the $150,000 required for a preliminary organization. A number of additions were then made to the list, swelling it to $120,950. Resolutions in favor of the project were adopted and addresses were made by Judge MONELL, HOMER RAMSDELL, and others. The most prominent business men calculate on the giving out of contracts for grading early in May. But $15,000 is lacking to make up the sum required to effect an organization.

Personal.

Carrington, of Oswego; Hon. T. W. Wasson, of Massachusetts; Hon. William Whiting, of Boston; Hon. H. B. Hulbert, of Cleaveland, and Hon. D. D. Johnson, of Washington, are at the St. Nicholas Hotel. Senator Graham, of Middletown; Commodore Ashcroft, of the United States Navy; Prof. Evans, of Pittsburg; Hon. H. R. Stevens, of Newburg, and Major Dewey, of the United States Army, are at the Astor House. Hon. M. Ellis, of Washington; R. E. Harris, of Baltimore; Geo. Wright, of Illinois, and Hon. M. F. Foster, of Augusta, Ga. are at the Metropolitan Hotel.

The second day's session of the Eastern German Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, was held at the German Church in Fortieth-street, between Eighth and Ninth avenues, yesterday, Rev. The Bishop presented the report of the Presiding Elders of the vote taken on the question of lay delegation in certain districts, as follows: New-York District—For lay delegation, 209; against, 143. Philadelphia District—For lay delegation, 160; against, 107. Total against, 250; for, 369.

The annual report of the trustees of the Mission House, Mr. OCKERSHAUSEN, President, and Rev. The receipts of the Mission-house Association for the year were $13,205 65, and the disbursements $12,346 52. The assets of the Association are $57,259, and the liabilities $30,000, leaving a net capital of $27,259.

Rev. W. SCHLUETER, Rev. F. W. BOESE and Rev. AUG. FLAMMAN were received into full connection.

Rev. Mr. VINCENT, Corresponding Secretary of the Sabbath-school Union, addressed the Conference on the Sunday-school cause. Rev. PAUL [illegible] was elected Statistical Secretary of the Conference.

The Conference will meet again at 9 o'clock this morning.

ENCOUNTER WITH THIEVES.

A Gang of Colored Ruffians Commit an Audacious Robbery—Arrest of a Ringleader, and his Subsequent Rescue—He is Shot by a Policeman, and Finally Secured by Capt. McDonnell.

The lower part of the Eighth Ward has for some time past been infested by a gang of negro ruffians, whose feats of lawlessness have made them the terror of the locality, and caused them to be considered in Police circles as formidable rivals in wickedness of the famous Nineteenth-street gang. One of the most notorious of these outlaws is one JAMES WARNER, alias Jones, alias Ward, who has been arrested many times for larceny and other crimes, and has for a long time been under Police surveillance as a desperate character. Yesterday, about 11 o'clock in the forenoon, this desperado, with half a dozen other negroes, entered the liquor store and distillery No. 28 Sullivan-street and called for drinks, which were furnished and drank, but payment was refused. WM. MILLER, the bar-keeper, attempting to expostulate with the gang, one of the negroes seized him and by main strength dragged him over from behind the counter, and throwing him over a barrel held him there while WARNER robbed him of a watch worth $25. Emboldened by this success, the gang next proceeded to a general sack of the entire establishment, and having drank all they could poured a quantity of liquor upon the floor, and then smashing in the front windows, departed.

Information of the outrage was sent immediately to the Twenty-eighth Precinct Station-house, and Capt. MCDONNELL, accompanied by Detectives LEAYCRAFT and VAN GRITCHEN, at once started in pursuit of the culprits, WARNER, however, being the only one who could be identified from the description given of the marauders. Proceeding to the locality infested by the bandits, Capt. MCDONNELL posted himself on the corner of Grand and Sullivan streets, and directed the officers to scour the latter street northward. While obeying these orders, LEAYCRAFT unearthed WARNER at the corner of Broome and Sullivan streets, and arresting him, started for the Station-house, through Broome-street, Capt. MCDONNELL and VAN GRITCHEN going by a different route. LEAYCRAFT had gone but a few steps when he was suddenly attacked by a number of negroes, determined to rescue the prisoner, and being knocked down, was brutally kicked by the ruffians, in which sport WARNER, who had of course broken from the grasp of the officer, heartily joined. LEAYCRAFT managed to get out his revolver, and lying upon the pavement, with the negroes stamping him like demons, fired at random into the crowd. The bullet took effect upon WARNER, inflicting a trivial wound. The shot, however, had the good result of putting the entire mob, including WARNER, to instantaneous flight. LEAYCRAFT, finding his prisoner rapidly getting beyond the hope of recapture, fired again, the ball takinff effect under the right shoulder blade, causing a very serious wound, but not serving to stop the flight of the ruffian, who ran down Laurens-street, and through the arch back into Sullivan-street. Capt. MCDONNELL having heard of the mélée, was hastening to the rescue of his officer, when he saw WARNER rush into the hallway of No. 22 Sullivan-street, and instantly followed him. The fugitive ran pell-mell up the stairs to a third story room, and just as Capt. MCDONNELL reached the landing, WARNER slammed the door behind him and locked it. Capt. MCDONNELL demanded admittance, and no answer being given, burst in the door, and rushing into the room, seized WARNER upon the window-sill, at the instant he was about jumping to the ground. Finding himself dragged back into the room, WARNER, who is a large powerful man, grappled fiercely with MCDONNELL, but the latter, who is small but sinewy, held fast to his prey, and in the desperate struggle that ensued both went backward over the hot cooking-stove in the room. But Capt. MCDONNELL did not even then relax his hold, and help arriving at this moment the outlaw was at last secured and taken to the Twenty-eighth Precinct Station-house, where he was locked up. Capt. MCDONNELL at once summoned a surgeon, who dressed the wounds of the prisoner, the second of which was found to be so serious that WARNER was not immediately sent to Court, but held subject to the direction sof the surgeon. The conduct of Capt. MCDONNELL and Detective LEAYCRAFT elicited the warmest encomiums in the highest official Police circles.

STOLEN BONDS.

The Norwalk and Ocean Bank Robberies—Arraignment of Deal—Statement of the Detectives—The Accused Held for Trial in Default of $20,000 Bail.

The "Spoiled Case," as the detectives from the Central Office term it, came up yesterday at the Tombs Police Court, before Justice DOWLING, when EDGAR DEAL, a young man of prepossessing appearance, was arrigned to answer the charge of having negotiated several bonds alleged to have been stolen from the Norwalk and Ocean National Banks. The actual facts in the case are as yet wrapped in considerable mystery, owing to an endeavor made by the detectives to conceal their future purposes in attempting additional arrests.

It appears, however, that the accused, DEAL, had sold six or seven United States five-twenty bonds in the regular way of business to brokers, having received them from a man named HARRINGTON, who is known in connection with WILLIAM OKELL, already under bail for trial on the charge of having in his possession some bonds stolen from the Norwalk Bank. He does not appear to have any idea that the bonds given him by HARRINGTON were stolen property.

When the examination was commenced, EBENEZER HILL, President of the Norwalk Bank, testified that a burglary had been committed on the 30th of September last, and he rather curiously described the bonds stolen, which in the aggregate were valued at $160,000. The numbers of the stolen bonds were entered in a book by Mr. HILL'S son, and that was all the knowledge the witness had of them.

JOHN P. SHANNON, a clerk in the office of FISK & HATCH, No. 5 Nassau-street, who usually did the purchases of bonds and sold the same over his counter, testified that on the 6th of November EDGAR DEAL sold him six United States bonds of the denomination of $1,000 each, and numbered respectively 168,257, 168,259, 50,753, 50,754, 21,540 and 50,720, which were purchased in the regular way of business. He had no recollection of the transaction beyond the ticket made by him at the time, as no entry had been made in the books. He did not know where the bonds delivered by DEAL were; all he could say was that the numbers of the bonds, as already given, appear on the books, which he had copied and produced in the Court; his firm buy and sell a large amount of these bonds daily; they are coupon bonds and payable to bearer; witness had known EDGAR DEAL for some years, as he lives at Yonkers, as does the prisoner.

WM. G. ELDER, detective, testified that he had a conversation with the prisoner at Police Headquarters, but had held out no inducements for him to make any statement; DEAL told ELDER that his first acquaintance with E. H. HARRINGTON, who gave him the bonds in question, was made at the Westminster Hotel through WM. OKELL, who resided at Yonkers, and who spoke to him one morning coming down in the cars, and asked him (DEAL) if he would sell some bonds at the regular broker's commissions, and that he could make a few dollars; that O'NEIL told him to go to the Westminster Hotel, and that he did so, and that OKELL joined him soon after, conversed a short time and then went away. A man who represented himself as HARRINGTON then came up and made himself known, when DEAL, actuated by friendship, consented to sell some bonds for HARRINGTON, who gave him from $6,000 to $10,000 worth of United States bonds to get the best market price, and he did sell them to regular dealers, Messrs. FISK & HATCH and WHITE, MORRIS & Co.; he received a statement and returned the same to HARRINGTON at the lunch-counter of the Astor House, where HARRINGTON instructed him to come for a meeting; in that transaction he received $10; HARRINGTON had called several times at DEAL'S place of business and had given him bonds to sell; DEAL had sold these bonds in the regular way and always gave HARRINGTON a statement; HARRINGTON had asked DEAL how he would like to go into business for himself as a broker, and had promised to put up a capital of $5,000 or more, to furnish an office, when DEAL consented, as HARRINGTON had been vouched for by OKELL as a respectable party.

The Magistrate announced that he would hold the prisoner for trial, and fixed the amount of bail at $20,000. As this was not forthcoming, DEAL was taken down stairs to a cell, having had a brief interview with his counsel. It is understood that the detectives are on a new trail, and promise further and more interesting developments in this extraordinary case.

Shad Pole Obstructions in the Harbor.

The fishermen of New Jersey, disregarding the laws prohibiting obstructions in the harbor of New York, began the process of putting down shad-poles in the North River, opposite the Battery, on Thursday. The executive officer of the United States brig-of-war Colorado yesterday sent up word to the Pilot Commissioners that the vessel could not swing without damage to her copper on account of these obstructions. Reply was given that she might pull up the poles, and on Monday a steamer will go down, under direction of the Commissioners, to clear out all these obstructions which the Colorado may have omitted to extract.

B'nai Jeshurun Ladies' Benevolent Society.

The B'nai Jeshurun Ladies' Benevolent Society for the Relief of Indigent Females, instituted last November, has recently been incorporated. Its object is to afford relief to all Jewish female applicants who may be considered fit objects for the Society's bounty. The rooms of the Society are at the Thirty-fourth-street Synagogue, between Seventh-avenue and Broadway. The ladies meet every Wednesday, from 11 o'clock A. M. to 1 o'clock P. M., to sew for the poor, to furnish relief, and receive applications for assistance, during the months of December, January, February and March, after which all communications should be addressed to the President, No. 228 West Twenty-first-street, or any member of the Board of Directresses.

The following is a list of officers: Mrs. HENRY LEO, President; Mrs. H. S. Herts, Vice-President; Mrs. Ben Benjamin, Treasurer. Directresses—Mrs. Henry Leo, Mrs. Henry B. Herts, Mrs. Zion Bernstein, Mrs. Jacob L. Phillips, Mrs. A. Litthauer, Mrs. Harris Aronson, Mrs. Leo. Bamberger, Mrs. Leo. Wise, Mrs. S. Woolf. Simeon N. Leo, M. D., Honorary Secretary. Doctor—Simeon N. Leo, Resident Physician and Surgeon. Office, No. 228 West Twenty-first-street, from 6 to 7 P. M. Mrs. M. Meyer, Nurse, No. 414 Seventh-avenue.

The Female Industrial Home of the B'nai Jeshurun Ladies' Benevolent Society, located under the Thirty-fourth-street Synagogue, went into operation three weeks since. It gives employment to about 2,000 women, and manufactures for large clothing and shirt houses. It is open Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, on which days school is held for young girls and women for instruction in all kinds of sewing. The institution already has a fund of $3,000. Negotiations are now in progress for a house in which old and indigent females of the Jewish persuasion will be taken care of.

REYNOLDS, THE MURDERER.

Motion for a Stay of Proceedings to be Made Today.

A motion for a stay of proceedings in the case of REYNOLDS, the murderer, will be made before Judge INGRAHAM, in the Supreme Court, this morning. The affidavit of Dr. ECHEVARRIA, concerning REYNOLDS' sanity, will be read to the Court at that time. The following notice was served by the prisoner's counsel on the District-Attorney yesterday:

SUPREME COURT, NEW-YORK.—The People, &c., vs. John Reynolds—On conviction in Court of Oyer and Terminer for murder.

To Hon. Samuel B. Garvin, District-Attorney, New York County:

SIR: Please take notice that a motion will be made before Hon. DAVID P. INGRAHAM, one of the Justices of our Supreme Court, at Chambers of said Supreme Court, in the new County Court-house, in the City of New-York, on the 2d day of April, 1870, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, for a writ of error and stay of proceedings for the above-named JOHN REYNOLDS, now under sentence of death for murder. Yours, respectfully,

WILLIAM F. HOWE,
of Counsel for JOHN REYNOLDS.

MARCH 30, 1870.

In cases where a criminal is sentenced to be hanged it is customary to transfer him to the custody of the Sheriff one week prior to his execution, to be held by the Sheriff until after execution.

In accordance with this custom, Sheriff O'BRIEN took charge of REYNOLDS on Thursday evening, and Major PETER BOWE and IGNATIUS FLYNN, Deputy Sheriffs, remained with REYNOLDS all night, and were relieved yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriffs PATRICK J. HANBURY and JACOB SEEBACHER. Two other deputies relieved these latter-named deputies last night, and two deputies will remain with REYNOLDS day and night until he is executed, unless a stay of proceedings should be obtained.

Mr. SAMUEL R. HARLOW, Collector elect of the Fourth Internal Revenue District, still remains United States Marshal, not having received his new commission from Washington as yet. It is expected that he will take charge of his new office early next week, after giving a bond for $100,000 in the United States Court.

Gen. GEORGE SHARPE, of Ulster County, will subsequently succeed him in his present position, and will be sworn in as Marshal by either Judge WOODRUFF or Judge BLATCHFORD. Among the attachés of the Marshal's Office whom Mr. HARLOW intends to take with him after he becomes Collector are Deputy-Marshals FISKE, GREIG and CHRISTIE. Nearly all the rest of the force in the Marshal's Office will probably be retained by Gen. SHARPE. At present the Fourth District is in charge of Deputy Collector BULLARD, of Collector PLEASONTON'S staff. Gen. PLEASONTON took possession of the Revenue office in the Thirty-second District yesterday. Col. CLIFFORD THOMSON is retained as his chief deputy in place of Mr. CHILDS. He appointed SAMUEL TRUESDALE as Cashier, and GEORGE W. COONEY as Stamp Clerk, but made no other changes, for the reason that the accounts of Mr. BAILEY, the old Collector, have not yet been closed. A number of bills incurred by Mr. BAILEY in prosecuting suits remain unpaid by the Treasury Department on account of sundry informalities in the vouchers.

The Revenue Counterfeiting Case.

Additional testimony was taken before Commissioner SHIELDS, yesterday, in the case of BENONA HOWARD, charged with having used counterfeit Revenue stamps, &c. JOHN STORY, of Staten Island, ISAAC ROMER, and Col. ERHARDT were called as witnesses, after which the examination was adjourned until Monday, for the purpose of giving the prosecution an opportunity of showing that the counterfeit plate, alleged to have been made for HOWARD, was not washed ashore, as claimed by the prosecution.

The Silk Smugglers Held for Trial—The Conduct of Customs' Officials to be Scrutinized.

ISIDORE WOLF, MYRTIL MAY and PAUL MARES, charged with smuggling a large quantity of goods through the Custom-house, had no evidence to offer for the defense, yesterday, on their case being called in the United States Commissioner's Office. They jointly waived a further examination, and were subsequently held to await the action of the Grand Jury. It is said that Collector GRINNELL has commenced an investigation into the conduct of some of his deputies and subordinates in consequence of certain testimony which was given during the examination into the frauds.

A Dinner to be Tendered Associate Justice Bradley.

Messrs. THEODORE RUNYON, W. S. WHITEHEAD, G. N. ABEEL, JOHN J. JACKSON, SAMUEL F. BIGELOW and N. PERRY, Jr. have been appointed a committee to make arrangements for a public dinner to be given in honor of Hon. JOSEPH P. BRADLEY, the newly-chosen Justice of the United States Supreme Court, at Newark, N. J., in a few days, by the members of the Bar of Essex County. The price of tickets has been fixed at $15 each, and can be procured of Mr. N. PERRY, Jr., at Newark.

The Ramsey-Erie Suit.

In the action which Mr. RAMSEY commenced a few months since against the Erie Railway Company and FISK, GOULD & CO., Directors of the Company, for the purpose, among others, of suspending and removing FISK, GOULD & CO. from the directorship, a motion was made by the defendants, on the second Tuesday of March last, at a special term of the Supreme Court held at Owego, before his Honor Judge J. M. PARKER, to dismiss Mr. RAMSEY'S complaint, or for a perpetual stay of proceedings in the action.

This motion was argued by DAVID DUDLEY FIELD and T. G. SHEARMAN for the defendants, and HENRY SMITH and R. W. PECKHAM, Jr., of Albany, for the plaintiff. Judge PARKER has just given his decision, denying this motion of the defendants, with costs.

At the same time and before the same Judge, another motion was made by the defendant's counsel. This motion was to set aside an order the plaintiff had obtained, appointing a referee to take the deposition of Mr. A. S. DIVEN, a director of the Company. The motion was opposed by the counsel for the plaintiff, and Judge PARKER also denied this motion, with costs.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

Steam-tug Quickstep, Runyon, et al., Claimants, vs. Christopher Byrne.—Appeal from the Circuit Court for the Southern District of New York. The libel in this case was filed to recover for injuries done a canal-boat, and loss of cargo, in consequence of the alleged negligence of the appellants' tug, which was towing her. The principal allegation was that the tug attempted to tow too many loaded boats, and that while in tow one of the boats broke loose, and in backing to pick her up the injury occurred. A breach of contract was also alleged, in that there was a deviation in the course to the Atlantic Dock, when the contract was to tow to New-Brunswick, N. J. The answer averred that the canal-boat was towed in the usual way; no contract to go direct; the number of the boats was not too many, and the injury occurred by the breaking of a bridal line in a storm.

In the District Court the judgment was that both were in fault, and the damages were divided; but there was no opinion, and no facts were found. On appeal to the Circuit, it was said (after stating the result in the District Court): "The testimony is quite voluminous and conflicting, and the question one mainly of fact, with which we are not disposed to interfere, acquiescing in the decree below," and the decree was affirmed. The appellant comes here insisting that the Circuit Court should have reviewed the facts, and if anything therein found would warrant it, the decree of the District Court should have been reversed or modified; and it is submitted that the entire scope and object of an admiralty appeal is to bring up the facts in the case, and to have a rehearing on them, and that the Court, both on principle and precedent, is bound to review them. On the appeal to this Court, in this case, however, there is no question of any prior disposition of any fact. The appellants are engaged in a branch of business important to them to know on what their rights depend and on what facts negligence is to be legally imputed; what their duty is, and what is a performance of it. The object of their defense was to show what had, as matter of fact, been done in their contract; and that being found, or any set of facts being found, what duty resulted, and, by implication of law, whether a default existed against them, or whether they had performed their duty, or in what they had failed. Up to this point in the litigation, from any opinion rendered, intimation or fact found, they are entirely ignorant of what their negligence consists; whether the Judge of the District Court held them common carriers, or on what principle he held them, or for what want of diligence, or whether he held them as insurers, does not appear. The appellants have been put to large expense in trying to obtain a judgment on their conduct in regard to the facts, and they are yet without any. Both parties recapitulate and rediscuss the facts for the information of the Court.

C. Donohue and W. J. Hasket for appellants; J. C. Carter for appellee.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT—SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

Before Judge Benedict.

NATIONAL BANK CLERK—VARIANCE—ACQUITTAL.

The United States vs. William F. Veltman.—The trial of this defendant, charged with embezzling the funds of the Fourth National Bank, in October last, while employed as a clerk in that institution, was continued yesterday. The prosecution offered in evidence proof of the incorporation of the bank under the act of 1863. The defense thereupon claimed that the indictment was defective, inasmuch as it was framed under the statute of 1864, the penal clause of which, as argued by the defense, applies only to frauds committed upon institutions incorporated under that act, while the penal clause of the act of 1863 was repealed by the act of 1864. The defence also claimed that there was a fatal variance between the indictment and the proof, in the respect stated. The Court, without passing upon the first point, held that the second objection was well taken, and directed a verdict of acquittal.

SUPREME COURT—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Judge Barnard.

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE—COLLUSION.

Henry Schrieber vs. Ambrose Schirmer.—This action was brought to compel the performance of a contract for the purchase and sale of a house and lot on Sixth-street, in this City. The defense to the suit was that the contract on which the action was based was obtained by fraudulent representations on the part of the plaintiff and other persons acting in collusion with him. The fraud, as charged, consisted in a clause inserted in the contract whereby the defendant was to receive in payment for the house a second mortgage in lieu of cash, which the defendant claimed was in pursuance of the terms of the contract.

After a full hearing the complaint was, on motion of the counsel for the defendant, dismissed.

For plaintiff, Mr. Anderson; for defendant, Messrs. Hatch & Beneville.

The sales of Gold today were ⅛@⅜ ₩ cent. weaker than last night, and the speculation in the Gold Room rather quiet. The holders of Gold are paying 5@6 ₩ cent. per annum to carry over their balances. The market was again weakened today by the state of the Foreign Exchanges which are poorly supported by the trade demand, although it is remarked that no very large supply of outside Bills is pressed on sale. The regular Bankers quote 108¼@108⅜ on London, and f.5.25@f.5.24⅜ to the dollar on Paris, 60 days, while sight Bills are even relatively lower, allowing ¼ ₩ cent. (or 3 ₩ cent. per annum) for difference of interest on the other side.

Money is in larger demand at 6 ₩ cent. on call loan, and 6@7 ₩ cent. on prime Mercantile paper. There is a reported demand from the interior of New-York State for the first of April settlements, which usually occur at this season, between the farmers, dairy-men, country merchants, &c. This demand, however, will soon be over, and comes at a time, this year, when there are no orders on the City Banks for Currency to go West or South.

The Stock Exchange is generally lower in all departments than last night, the differences in prices, in the Afternoon, ranging from ⅛@¼ on the Public Funds of the United States to ½@1 ₩ cent. on the Western Railways. The Vanderbilt Stock Scrip were less affected. The Southern State Bonds and the Railway Mortgages generally steady. Among the Railways, the most decided activity was in Lake Shore Stock, incident to the closing of [illegible] to-morrow for the annual election. We hear of no organized opposition to the present Board at this election, but there would seem to be some stir in the Stock on the eve of the closing of the books, in the direction of the possibility of a contest.

The advices from the Supreme Court at Washington bear out the conclusion in regard to the re-opening and reversal of the recent Legal-tender decision to which we very confidently referred a few days ago. It is not in the nature of the case, whether politically or judicially considered, that the Government can suffer its power, in peace or in war, to be impeached on so vital a point as the coinage or creation of Legal-tender Currency. There has not been a day since the unexpected and extraordinary opinion of Judge CHASE against the validity of the Act of Feb. 25, 1862, as applicable to pre-existing obligations, that we have doubted its reversal upon a review of the question by a full Bench. It is satisfactory to know that this action is to come so early at the instance of the Attorney-General of the United States.

Our information in regard to the Funding Bill will be found equally correct with the opinion expressed of the action of the Supreme Court. That Bill, as it passed the Senate, cannot receive the sanction of the House of Representatives, and will not, as we are now advised, be reported or supported by the Ways and Means or Banking and Currency Committee, without radical modifications—striking out all that relates to the contraction of Greenbacks, and the compulsory exchange of securities by the National Banks. It seems doubtful whether the Bill will be acted upon immediately in any shape.

The activity in Money among the Brokers today is ascribed in part to the closing of the Lake Shore transfers to-morrow afternoon. A large amount of Stock was called in and paid for by the Brokers interested in holding it over in their own names for the annual election. After the closing of the books the certificates of these parties will again be free to employment on the street.

After the late Boards the following quotations were made as against the last prices of Thursday. The Railways closed steady. The Pacific Mail movement broke down to 36⅛ per cent.:

The week's imports of foreign Dry Goods have been to the specie value of $2,096,115. Amount marketed, $2,548,352.

The many friends of Mr. SELAH C. CORNISH, of the New-York Shipping & Commercial List, will be gratified to learn that he has been formally announced as an associate editor of that journal, and that he has been given an interest in its business, to the prosperity of which he has so efficiently contributed, by his skill, industry and enterprise, through many years of faithful service.

The following, with regard to the effects produced by the Suez Canal in throwing English sailing vessels out of employment, is from the Liverpool Albion:

"There can be but little doubt now of the success, from an engineer's point of view, of the Suez Canal. Already a large number of steam vessels have passed safely through it en route for Bombay, Calcutta and other ports, some of which may shortly be looked for here again with their homeward cargoes of cotton. Upon commerce generally this improved means of communication will, no doubt, eventually exercise the best possible influence; but a question in which Liverpool especially is deeply interested arises in the meantime, as to the effect of the change upon the vast fleet of fine sailing vessels by which hitherto the trade with India and China, via the Cape, has been carried on. To this question it is difficult to return a satisfactory reply. Many shipowners, while others are disposed—and, it would seem, with more reason—to take a more sanguine view, and to look yet for sufficient employment for their tonnage, though, perhaps, never again at the rates current in times gone by, upon which they look with pardonable regret. Circumstances, in no way arising out of the changes wrought by the Suez Canal, have been pressing heavily on the India carrying trade for some time past; but under an improved state of things, which must come sooner or later, it seems only reasonable to suppose that some work will offer which only sailing vessels can satisfactorily perform. Meantime, however, owners, brokers and all connected with shipping, especially in the Eastern trade, are loud in their complaints. Their occupation seems to be—for the present, at all events—at an end; and every day seems but to multiply the ship-owner's difficulties in the satisfactory disposal of his property."

☞ THE SOUTHERN CENTRAL RAILROAD is now completed the entire distance from Owego to Auburn. A popular and prosperous Agricultural and Manufacturing district is thus efficiently provided for. The local business of the Southern Central will be very large both in freight and passenger traffic. The rich Agricultural country through which it runs will afford a constantly increasing business. The great manufacturing establishments at Auburn, whose water-power is the best in the State, and the enterprising towns along the line, will always secure to this road a good income.

VERMILYE & CO., the Financial Agents of the Road, offer the remaining unsold portion of the Bonds with the greatest confidence, believing them to be as good a security as any that has ever been placed on this market.

The Bonds bear Seven per cent., have thirty years to run, and they are convertible into stock at the option of the holder.

GRAIN—Wheat has been very quiet, since our last, yet prices have not varied much. There has been some export inquiry for Amber Winter and low grades of Spring on the basis of previous quotations. Millers have not been disposed to purchase freely. Sales have been reported since our last of 36,500 bushels, including White Western at $1 35@$1 45; Red and Amber Western at $1 24@$1 26½, in store and delivered, chiefly Amber at $1 26½, delivered; No. 2 Milwaukee Spring at $1 10@$1 11, for small lots in store; No. 2 Chicago Spring at $1 10@$1 12, in store and delivered; Nos. 2 and 3 Spring, Mixed, at $1 03; No. 3 Spring at $1 01; soft rejected Spring on private terms; White Genesee at $1 50@$1 55; Amber State at $1 26½, delivered, ₩ bushel. Corn has been in limited supply and held with increasing firmness, [illegible] our last of [illegible] Mixed Western, [illegible] for Mixed Western, [illegible] Western and Southern, [illegible] White Western and Southern [illegible] firm and inactive at [illegible] for Jersey and Western; [illegible] $1 07½ for State, ₩ bushel. The export clearances have been 2,501 bbls. Flour and 47,866 bushels Wheat for Liverpool, and 5,500 bbls. Flour for Glasgow.

GUNNY BAGS AND BAGGING.—The main call has been for Bagging, of which 650 bales have been sold since our last, part to arrive, at firmer and buoyant prices. We quote Bags at 17½c.@19c. for light to extra heavy, each; Bagging at 24½c., currency, ₩ yard. Messrs. H. H. CROCKER & CO. report the stock now in importers' hands 2,700 bales Bags and 3,800 bales Bagging here, with 4,000 bales Bags and 3,800 bales Bagging in Boston.

HAY—Bale Hay continues in demand and quoted steady at 90c.@95c. for shipping, and $1 05@$1 20 for local use, ₩ 100 lbs. Straw has been inactive at 75c.@$1 10 for Short and Long, ₩ 100 lbs.

HEMP—Has been quiet, but quoted firm, including American (nominally) at $195@$210 for Undressed, and $265@$315 for Dressed, ₩ ton; Russian, $250, gold, ₩ ton; Jute at 5⅛c.@6⅛c., gold; Manila, 14⅛c., gold; Sisal, 12c., gold; Jute Butts, 3⅛c.@4c., currency, ₩ lb. Messrs. H. H. CROCKER & CO. include in the stock of foreign on hand, 22,533 bales Manila, 2,000 bales of Jute, and 2,500 bales Butts, here. In Boston, the stock of Manila is 12,237 bales; Jute, 1,200 bales; Jute Butts 3,800 bales.

HIDES—Have been quoted about as before in price, but have not been dealt in with much freedom.

HOPS—Have been in some demand and steady, including New-York at 18c.@20c.; Eastern at 14c.@21c.; Ohio at 13c.@20c.; Michigan at 13c.@20c.; Wisconsin at 10c.@23c.; Yearlings at 13c.; Old Olds at 2c.@8c. ₩ lb. Receipts today, 226 bales; exports, — bales. Mr. EMMET WELLS notices the week's business thus: "There is no change of importance to report. The demand has been chiefly for consumption at recent quotations; a few fine lots of State Hops, however, have been forced to sale at very low figures, but only where peremptory orders were given to sell on arrival. A choice lot of about 50 bales were actually sold this week at 10c. ₩ lb., the owner being obliged to realize on them by the 1st of April. While such slaughtering prices have been accepted in a few isolated cases, it can scarcely be considered a criterion by which to judge the market value of the article, as no concern here would undertake to fill an order today for 500 bales of such Hops at less than 25c. ₩ lb., if so many bales could be found to match in quality. The stock in this market is now reduced to about 20,000 bales, including new and old of all qualities. Two-thirds of this stock is held by three concerns. The heavy receipts of the past week were chiefly of Wisconsin yearlings, which are going forward to the London market. There has been no ill effect resulting from these heavy arrivals, as they were anticipated. If reports from Wisconsin be true, that State will be pretty well cleaned of Hops by another week or so, so that by the 10th inst. the receipts into New-York must show a very material falling off. The exports will also decrease rapidly after these Wisconsins go forward. Receipts of the week, 1,849 bales. Total receipts of the season, 94,639 bales. Export clearances last week, 357 bales. Total exports of the season from the port of New-York, 51,447 bales. From London our advices are down to March 12, at which time that market exhibited no alteration worthy of notice, the same dribbling trade prevailing for the few English left. The choicest sorts of new Americans and Bavarians were offered at prices below late quotations, where sales appeared probable, although the currency for this class was nominally unaltered. Yearlings of all kinds were still unnoticed, and were further depressed by the large arrivals from this side, which, it is needless to say, have been for some time past far in excess of requirements. Last Customs list showed imports as follows: From America, 2,400 bales; from the Continent, 855 bales. The general impression on the part of buyers was that further heavy arrivals might be expected, owing to the extraordinary low rate of freight then prevailing, and with no abatement in the receipts, no improvement was looked for.

LATHS—Eastern have been moderately sought after at $2 15@$2 25 ₩ thousand.

TEAS—There has not been much animation in this line, but prices have been supported.

TOBACCO—Has been quiet since our last, sales having been confined to 130 hhds. Kentucky at 6¾c.@13c.; 30 cases new Pennsylvania, on private terms; 54 cases old Ohio at 30c., and 350 bales Havana at 27½c.@32c., gold, in bond, and 85c.@$1 05, currency, free, ₩ lb. Of the movements in this line in March, Messrs. M. RADER & SON remark that "the sales of Kentucky Tobacco amount to about 1,600 hhds., and were, with the exception of one or two parcels, strictly of a retail character, mostly to manufacturers and jobbers. Among these sales were about 450 hhds. new crop, part low grades, as sample lots for export. Our own manufacturers, with several from Virginia, have taken new Wrappers and Fillers at full prices, ranging from 9c. to 13½c.; a few choice hhds. brought still higher figures. The situation of this article is most peculiar. In the West the conviction seems to be general that the extent of the crop has been over-estimated; still it is admitted that the receipts on the coast may reach 70,000 hhds., but how much of this in good order, is still a matter of uncertainty, as at the break market in the interior, with smaller receipts than last year, the quantity of frosted is large, and selling to manufacturers, to the surprise of everybody, readily at fuller rates than anticipated. Black frosted is selling in Louisville at $3 80@$4 85; partly frosted Lugs at 5c.@5¼c., and other grades in proportion, whereas it was generally expected the black frosted would barely bring enough to cover expenses of packing and transportation. This and the continued active demand in the West, from strippers and manufacturers, has kept prices at a point which our exporters are unwilling to cover, in view of the great uncertainty and the low range of gold and exchange and the general dullness pervading here as well as in foreign markets. In the absence of an active demand, and still desirous of giving some idea of the stand of prices here for the new crop, we give the following quotations: Black frosted, 5c.@6¼c.; partly frosted Lugs, 6¾c.@7¼c.; Sound frosted Lugs, 7¾c.@8¼c.; Common Leaf, 8½c.@9¼c.; Medium do., 9½c.@11c.; Good do., 10¾c.@12c.; Fine do., 11¼c.@13c.; Selections, 12¾c.@14c. Seed-leaf Tobacco.—We have again to report a very small and unsatisfactory business in this line, buyers having no courage to operate even at reduced figures, transactions being confined to actual wants which, in the present unsettled state of affairs, are very limited. In Connecticut there is more of a disposition to meet buyers, notwithstanding the high prices paid for the new crop, but the sales are mostly of a jobbing character. A few lots of State Seed changed hands, being returned shipments from Europe. The accounts of the new crop are not flattering. Ohio has been more active, this sort being the most favorite article for jobbing purposes now on hand, which can be had at moderate figures. A small lot of new crop was sold at 10¼c. for a running parcel, but from what we have seen of this crop, a low price is the only thing which may induce purchasers. Pennsylvania is dull and without change; 270 cases of new crop were taken on speculation at 11¼c. for an average lot. This sort shows remarkably well adapted for shipping purposes, and if offered at reasonable prices will no doubt find a ready market. From the views of both jobbers and shippers on the few lots of new crop already offered on the market, we gather but one opinion, and that is, that if holders expect to make speedy sales they must be prepared to offer their goods at considerable reductions from the views entertained earlier in the season. The sales are, 500 cases Connecticut, 18¼c., 21c., 32c., 45c., 55c.; 201 cases State, 10½c., 18c., 23c.; 690 cases Ohio, 10¼c., 13¼c., 17c., 19c., 20¼c., 32c.; 337 cases Pennsylvania, 11¼c., 35c. We quote as follows: Connecticut and Massachusetts Fillers, 13c.@15c., nominal; do. Binders and Seconds, 18c.@23c., nominal; do. Wrappery lots, 35c.@40c.; do. fine Wrappers, 50c.@60c.; New-York State Fillers, 10c.@12c.; do. average lots, 16c.@25c.; do. Wrappers, 20c.@35c.; Pennsylvania and Ohio Fillers, 10c.@12c.; do. average lots, 16c.@22½c.; do. Wrappers, 25c.@45c. Havana Tobacco—The favorable stand of gold during the past month contributed somewhat to increase the demand for this article, and swelled the sales to near 2,200 bales, of which some 1700 bales were for export, at from 23c.@30c. ₩ lb., gold, in bond. Notwithstanding the increased demand the stock is accumulating, and we do not see how a great bulk of it can be disposed of, unless holders are willing to accept lower prices. Yara Tobacco—A speculative movement induced by the small stock on hand here, and the reported small crop made this season, led to several hundred bales II cuts changing hands at from 97½c.@$1 02½. We quote as follows: Havana—Common, 72½c.@75c.; Good, 80c.@87½c.; Fine, 90c.@$1 02½, currency. Yara—I cut, 85c.@87½c.; II cut, $1 @$1 02½; average lot, 90c.@92½c., currency. Manufactured Tobacco—There has only been a moderate trade, restricted by the scarcity of desirable goods, the receipts of which continue small. The transactions are evenly divided between exporters and the home trade. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Black Work—Common and Medium at 18c.@21c., in bond; do. Good and Fine at 22c.@26c., in bond. Bright Work—Common and Medium at 27c.@32c., in bond; do. Good and Fine at 35c.@55c., in bond.

WHISKY—Has been in demand at former prices. Sales 250 bbls., in lots, at 99½c.@$1 for wood and iron-bound Western and State pkgs., ₩ gallon; receipts, 867 bbls.

WOOL—The demand has been more active within a day or two at generally steady rates, with much reduced offerings of desirable lots reported. Universal attention has been given to California Wool, in which a liberal trade has been noted. The inquiry has been mainly for manufacturing purposes. Messrs. TELLKAMPF & KITCHING BROTHERS' review the business of March, thus: "The firmness and activity which existed during the two preceding months has been lacking in that just ended. The continued decline in gold, and the announcement of several failures among manufacturers, have brought about this result. Stocks of all kinds of Wool are quite moderate. Fleece Wool has been in less demand, and the previous advance has been nearly lost. The lower grades are most sought for, but owing to the small stock, buyers are compelled to take the higher qualities. Pulled Wools are selling slowly at a concession in price. California and Texas Wools have met with ready sale at fair rates. The Burry Wools at present prices are most salable. Low Texas Wools are in less demand, and have partially lost the previous advance. The improved descriptions move freely. Fine foreign Wools, especially Cape, have received more attention, as the low rate of gold permits manufacturers to use them in place of domestic fleeces. South American Sheep-skins meet with ready sale. Carpet Wools continue neglected, with the exception of those from the Mediterranean. The advices from the European markets report a better feeling on fine and coarse Wools. The London auction sales of about 80,000 bales Australian and Cape Wool closed on 5th ult. with an advance of about 5 ₩ cent. The next series begins on 7th inst. Low Wools are also firmer, and stocks, with exception of Donskoi, are small. The imports of Wool into New-York for the year 1868 were 28,213 bales, 13,499,159 lbs.; the imports of Wool into New-York for the year 1869 were 46,196 bales, 20,710,391 lbs.; the imports of Wool into New-York from Jan. 1 to Feb. 19, 1870, 8,414 bales, 3,706,527 lbs.; the imports of Wool into New-York for month ending March 26, 4,720 bales, 1,877,965 lbs.

NEW-YORK CATTLE-MARKET.

NEW-YORK, Friday, April 1, 1870.

Trade in horned Cattle this forenoon has been rather slow. At Weehawken Market the grades were inferior and the prices correspondingly low; Cattle sold from 14c.@15c. Trade in Sheep was good: the markets closed firm at fair prices; supplies light. Trade in Hogs a small matter. Many causes combine to render it so—Lent, the advanced season of the year, and the fact of butchers purchasing largely out West. "Rumor, with her thousand tongues," was busy today clamoring about the state of trade at the Live Stock markets of New-Jersey. One report was that the two companies interested in Communipaw and Weehawken had come to terms, and, combining their forces, were to build a monster cattle-yard midway between the two existing yards, on or just close to Green Paint. The other report is, that those yards are running hard against one another, that it is guerra al cuchello; if such is the case, Weehawken colors ought to come out to the front, if we are to judge from the proceedings of the new Superintendent, who had a phalanx of sweepers at work this morning, cleaning out the cattle-pens. Truly, wonders will never cease.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate yesterday the case of Gen. AMES, Senator elect from Mississippi, was finally disposed of after another long debate. The report of the Judiciary Committee, on motion of Mr. SUMNER, by a vote of forty to twelve, was changed so as to read "is eligible," instead of "is not," and Gen. AMES was admitted to his seat. During the early portion of the session a petition was received, which was referred to the Judiciary Committee, from O. B. HART, of Florida, setting forth that he (HART) and not Senator GILBERT had been regularly elected to represent the State in the Senate. Senator MORTON introduced a new bill providing for the enforcement of the Fifteenth Amendment. He also gave notice that he would move to bring up for discussion on Monday the resolution in regard to the Oneida disaster, at 5¼ P. M. After a brief Executive Session the Senate adjourned until Monday.

In the House, with the exception of the debate on the tariff, but little business of general interest was transacted. A large number of private bills were disposed of, among them the Senate bill, which was passed, giving consent of the United States to the bridging of the Delaware River, between Philadelphia, Penn., and Camden, N. J. Before considering the Tariff bill by sections, Mr. GARFIELD made a long speech in its support. The bill was then taken up in Committee of the Whole, and the question in regard to the tax on tea debated. Without action the Committee rose and again went into Committee on private bills. An interesting discussion arose on a bill granting lands to an Oregon Railway. No action, however, was taken, and at 4½ P. M. a recess was taken until evening for general debate. At the evening session only [illegible] members were present. Speeches were made by Mr. LAWRENCE, of Ohio, on the finances, and by Mr. BENNETT, of New-York, on the question of making the Erie Canal a public highway. The House then adjourned until today.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

In the Senate, yesterday, a committee of conference was appointed on the Assembly amendments to the bill facilitating the payment of taxes by railroad companies. The bill increasing the salary of Canal Appraisers to $3,000, and $1,000 for traveling expenses, was rejected. The Assembly resolution asking a conference committee on the Excise bill was taken up and discussed; at length, on motion of Mr. TWEED, the subject was made the special order for Tuesday next.

In the Assembly, a large number of local bills were referred to Subcommittees of the Whole, to be reported complete. A bill was introduced incorporating the New-York and New-Jersey Railroad Bridge Company. Among the bills ordered to a third reading were those amending the charter of Brooklyn, and providing for the government of the Board of Education of that city. Both branches adjourned to Monday evening.

Senatorial Qualifications—The Case of Gen. Ames.

The debate in the United States Senate on the credentials of Gen. AMES, the Senator elect for the State of Mississippi, is full of instruction as to the meaning and intent of the Constitution in regard to the qualifications of the Senatorial office and the right of any citizen of the United States, of nine years' standing, to represent any State in the Union in the Senate or House of Representatives, without qualification as to the term of inhabitancy in the State. The Judiciary Committee reported that Gen. AMES could not take his seat because he was not an inhabitant of the State when elected within the meaning of the Constitution. It was not pretended that the question had any material personal or party significance. On the contrary, it was conceded that Gen. AMES is now an inhabitant, and if sent back would assuredly be re-elected; but the majority of the Committee claimed that at the time of the original election he was not an inhabitant in the legal sense. In support of this view it was alleged that if he had failed of an election, he might not have remained in Mississippi.

The Republican majority in the Senate differed from this conclusion and the technical argument upon which it was founded. Gen. AMES had been a resident of Mississippi in his military capacity for about eighteen months. When his duties as Military Governor were about to cease, he was solicited to become a candidate for the Senate, and being of the proper age, and a citizen of the United States of more than nine years' residence, and living in Mississippi "at the time," it was held that the facts of his election and acceptance constituted sufficient proofs of the other constitutional qualification of inhabitancy.

Aside from its immediate interest, the debate developed the technical meaning of the term "inhabitant;" and secondly, the real intent of the Constitution in the use of the term, without prescribing, so far as State lines are concerned, any particular time or term of years of inhabitancy. It transpired that this last point was made in the Convention that framed the Constitution of 1789. Mr. RUTLEDGE, of South Carolina, moved an amendment to the effect that three years' local inhabitancy should be required. Mr. READ, of Delaware, suggested that as the Convention had met to frame a Constitution in the name of the whole people of the United States, irrespective of State lines, no such qualification ought to be imposed. It was sufficient, he contended, that a Congressman should be simply an inhabitant of the State when elected, of the requisite age, and a citizen for nine years of the United States. Only two States, South Carolina and Georgia, voted to prescribe a term of State inhabitancy, and the amendment was lost.

These facts sufficiently dispose of the vulgar taunt of "carpet bagger," whether applied to Gen. AMES or any other man now representing the Southern States in the Senate or House of Representatives, or to Mr. COX, late of Ohio, representing the Sixth District of New-York. His place of birth or place of previous residence has really nothing to do with their qualifications to represent a particular State, provided if, not born in the United States, he had been nine years a citizen in any part of the United States; for if the late war settled any one point more emphatically than another, it was that we are one people. The right of the freemen (and freedmen) of the reconstructed Southern States, without distinction of race or color, to select their own representatives, without respect to their previous inhabitancy, would therefore seem to be no longer doubtful.

In England, the right of constituencies to select their members of the Commons House of Parliament is unlimited. The question of residence or inhabitancy within the borough or county has nothing to do with this perfect freedom of selection. But our Constitution, without drawing the slightest distinction as to citizenship or residence within the United States, whether North or South, East or West, requires that the Senator or Representative elect to the Congress of the United States shall have a local inhabitancy at the time of his election. And it seems clear from the tenor of the recent debate that one or three days' inhabitancy is, for all constitutional as well as practical purposes, as good as one or three years.

The Public Debt as it Now Stands.

The First of April Schedule of the Public Debt of the United States shows a further decrease of nearly six millions of dollars—say $5,766,349—since the first of March. The amount of United States five-twenties, which the present Administration, since their accession to the conduct of the Government finances, have been able to purchase and now hold in the Sinking Fund is $105,229,308. The net decrease in the public debt since the 4th of March, 1869, is $92,901,130, the difference between this sum and the amount held in the Sinking Fund being made up of a moderate increase in the circulation of fractional currency and gold notes and in the April accumulation of interest, as compared with March 1, last year.

The Funded Gold-bearing Debt of the United States is now down to $2,002,712,792. Two years ago we maintained that Secretary MCCULLOCH ought not to have suffered the total to exceed two thousand million of dollars, but he was so anxious to get in his currency-bearing obligations, and to hold at all times large currency balances in the Treasury, that when he left office the Funded Gold-bearing stocks amounted to $2,107,846,150. After reducing this department of the debt in the sum of $105,133,358, the Treasury is still stronger in gold on hand by about seven million of dollars than when Mr. BOUTWELL took charge of the Treasury, and nearly as strong in the amount owned by the Government after providing for the gold notes in circulation.

Is There to be Another Rebellion in Ireland?

Ireland will either make or mar Mr. GLADSTONE. The present Premier was elected to office by an overwhelming majority simply because he had distinctly undertaken to settle the Irish difficulty. The English people are by this time sick of the said "difficulty," and would be very glad to see it swept out of the way by almost any means. Mr. GLADSTONE seemed the very man for the work. He was "in earnest"—he always is. He had the nation at his back. Even Irishmen believed in him. In the House of Commons there was not a single Liberal who dared to vote against him. Assuredly no statesman could have entered upon a great task under more promising circumstances. There was not a single obstacle in his way. Side by side with him in the Cabinet there sat a man who had for years given special attention to Irish affairs, and whose counsels were probably more potential with the people at large than that of Mr. GLADSTONE himself. With the invaluable aid of the great popular orator, JOHN BRIGHT, it seemed to Mr. GLADSTONE's most cordial admirers that he could not go astray. But there were others who doubted whether the Prime Minister was great enough for his work, and others still who believed that the work itself was far too colossal for any living man, or a single generation, to accomplish.

With a fair wind in his favor, Mr. GLADSTONE set out upon his long journey. He had not gone far before he experienced a severe check. The bill for the disestablishment of the Irish Church was passed in a trice. All opposition to it was futile. The Conservatives were sullen and dispirited. The Liberals scarcely deigned to listen to the few protests they felt constrained to utter. But when the bill had passed it was seen that the "Irish difficulty" remained precisely where it was before. The head line in the London newspapers which has never been absent from them, and might literally be stereotyped, still met the eye. The first thing a man noticed when he opened the morning sheet was the unwelcome announcement of "another outbreak in Ireland." The Premier took no notice of this state of affairs, but quietly brought in his Irish Land bill. Upon that measure we have already pronounced our opinion. It appears to us to be quite inadequate to the crisis, and consequently calculated rather to irritate than to pacify the malcontents in Ireland. Disturbances were more frequent after the introduction of this measure than before it. Then Mr. GLADSTONE brought in a bill for the Preservation of Public Order. We all know what that means, especially when Ireland is the object aimed at. Among many other severe provisions it included one for seizing newspapers which rendered themselves obnoxious to the Government. Nothing so harsh as this has been attempted since CASTLEREAGH's time. No Tory Government could have proposed it in these days and lived. It would have been turned out summarily by the indignant Liberals. But Mr. GLADSTONE and his majority could do as they pleased, and the despotic bill was quickly pushed through the House of Commons.

And now what is the news brought to us by the cable this morning? That Irish discontent "seems to be increasing," that the London evening papers of yesterday contained a long list of outrages recently committed, that an attack had been made upon a Protestant Church, and that the emigration from Ireland to the United States "has increased to a remarkable extent within the past few days." These are the present fruits of Mr. GLADSTONE's policy. There is no reason to suppose that the later fruit will be any different in kind. Lord MELBOURNE used to complain that "TOM MACAULAY was so cocksure of doing everything." That is also one of Mr. GLADSTONE's weaknesses. While always making loud professions of his unworthiness and humility, he is in reality "cocksure" of succeeding in everything which he takes in hand. He has been quite confident that the Irish people would need nothing more to put them on good terms with the Government than his series of bills. He has offered them concessions at the point of the bayonet. He has excited their hopes to the highest pitch, only to dash them to the ground. We do not doubt Mr. GLADSTONE's sincerity—no one ever does. He is always horribly in earnest—that is not too strong an expression. But we may not feel quite the same amount of confidence in his judgment. If he does not take great care he may wake up some morning and find himself with a revolution on his hands, and an indignant people clamoring for his downfall. We hope that evil destiny may be averted, for the sake of the Irish nation. We recall too well the leading incidents of a rebellion in Ireland. The people "rise" and a compact body of troops shoots them down. It is a scene of indiscriminate slaughter and bloodshed. Then ship-loads of broken-hearted men make their escape to the United States, and the London papers report with great glee that the "rebellion is stamped out." Mr. GLADSTONE might have saved his countrymen from the reproach of another "war" of this kind. We trust he will even now succeed. But we look upon his course with a distrust which is only too well justified by the news we publish this morning.

The Income Tax in the Senate.

Untaught by the general disfavor with which the Income tax is regarded, the Senate Finance Committee has reported in favor of its continuance for another year, with all its objectionable features, except, perhaps, one, upon which there still remains a doubt. The discussion as to how the act should be interpreted in reference to the date at which it should go out of existence, is too recent to be forgotten. The House undertook to force a conclusion by resolving that the language of the act meant that the whole of 1870 should be covered by its provisions. This decision, pushed through with indecent haste, was in itself an outrage. But Mr. SHERMAN goes a step further even than this. He does not venture to affirm the correctness of the House rendering, nor to coincide with it. On the contrary, he evidently considers it erroneous in point of law, as it was opposed to the spirit of the act itself. Therefore, and that there may be no escape for the tax-payers, he introduces a resolution by which the income tax may be reimposed.

The manner in which this is done is, moreover, highly improper and unjust. The law as it now stands was fixed after long discussion, and it formed a part of general legislation upon our internal revenue. Congress is, further, engaged in a consideration of the whole subject of taxation. To legislate upon one branch of it by the hasty process of a resolution is manifestly wrong. It is, indeed, a method which should never be resorted to without urgent reason, and certainly never upon so grave a matter as the national finances. The only result, if the resolution is adopted, will be that a tax now thought sufficiently odious will become an object of the utmost detestation.

Appended to the resolution is another, providing that the tax shall be levied in 1871 at three per cent. This involves a degree of obscurity which is surprising. The first resolution says in general terms that the present duties on incomes shall be imposed "for and during the entire year of 1870." And as the payment of the duties thus "imposed" will take place in March, 1871—that is, as they will be levied and "collected" at that date—what does the second resolution mean, which says that after the year 1870 there shall be "levied and collected" a tax of three per centum? We submit that the Committee has only succeeded in transferring the doubt as to when the whole act was to expire to that part of it which refers only to the rate of percentage.

When, the other day, Mr. DELANO wrote to defend his construction of the section covering interest upon homesteads, he said, "I have not failed to see certain strong equities in favor of this deduction," which is as much as to admit that a Court of law would confirm these equities, in his opinion. As the law now is there is, however, no power of appeal to the Courts either in their law or equity side. So that the Commissioner avows himself compelled to do what he knows to be unjust. The Senate Committee might have lifted him out of this distressing predicament by adding to its resolutions a third, creating the power to appeal against his decisions. He is charged with harsh and unjust constructions, and in self-defense he avers that it is the law and not himself that is unjust. Why should he be made a martyr to circumstances in this way? His feelings are severely lacerated; why does not Mr. SHERMAN apply a healing salve, by making his judgments liable to question? Seriously, and without reference to Mr. DELANO, the anomaly remains that the people are denied the use of their own Courts for their own protection, a state of things which ought not to exist for a single day. In omitting all mention of this flagrant wrong from its resolutions, the Committee is much to blame. But the whole attempt is a blunder unworthy of any body of legislators. It is an undue interference with the discussion of the [illegible] revenue, and it [illegible] by a sort of snap action to perpetuate [illegible] which are at once impolitic and cruel.

The Culminating Point.

Strictly partisan writers of the Democratic school now affect to ridicule the idea that there is any significance in the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment, and assert that the President's Message announcing the fact was gratuitous display. Some of them assert that the amendment was a partisan maneuver, intended solely to strengthen the Republican Party in the Northern States. After contending against the amendment from the beginning, and denouncing it at every step in the most bitter manner; after charging upon the Republican Party the most outrageous usurpations, subversive of every principle of the Government, and deliberately stirring up the people of the South to the worst forms of lawlessness, they now stultify themselves by asserting the final culmination of the whole scheme of reconstruction to be of comparatively small importance, and declare the earnest congratulations of the President and of Republican journals to be stilted and absurd.

We can understand why Democratic leaders should wish to belittle the final realization of a policy against which they have contended so desperately, and to blot from the general memory as speedily as possible the recollection of their sore defeats; but that they should have the effrontery to declare that their own utterances for years have been a delusion and a falsehood puzzles comprehension. How, for instance, do they harmonize these latest protestations with the issue made by FRANK BLAIR and adopted by the party in the last Presidential campaign? or how can they justify the attempted withdrawal of the ratification of the State of New-York by the present Legislature? The trick is too transparent to succeed. The people are not so oblivious, and the record is too recent to be so easily forgotten.

The policy of which the Fifteenth Amendment is the complete realization, has been forced upon the Republican Party, from time to time, by a steady and unscrupulous resistance. The general object sought to be accomplished was to place emancipation beyond all future cavil, and to harmonize State Constitutions and laws with it so completely that there should be no possibility of retrogression and not even a plausible objection to its validity. We know that ever since the war closed there have been arguments advanced from time to time that emancipation was unconstitutional, and threats have been made that with the first opportunity the whole work of the Republican Party would be undone. It was not sufficient that freedom was proclaimed by the war power—our Democratic adversaries declared it to be brutem fulmen. It was not sufficient that Congress deliberately enacted the practical results of that proclamation as conditions of restoration to Statehood—the Democrats denied the power of Congress to make such laws. To place the question, therefore, beyond all cavil, emancipation was put in the form of the Thirteenth Amendment to the Constitution.

Still the old spirit of opposition manifested itself in dogged resistance, and it was asserted that practically the freedmen were outside the pale of the law, and not citizens. This would have given to the white ex-rebel population of the South the entire political control of thirteen States, and have enabled them successfully to resist the desired adjustment, besides giving them an undue representation in Congress. To obviate this the Fourteenth Amendment was devised and adopted. Hardly had it been proclaimed, however, when the people of the South, encouraged by Northern Democrats, began a series of outrages and political oppressions which demonstrated the absolute necessity of placing in the hands of the negro the power of protecting himself at the polls. It was argued that citizenship, as conferred by that amendment, did not carry with it the right of suffrage, and to put the matter beyond all cavil the Fifteenth Amendment was duly submitted and adopted.

Pending its ratification, Democratic argument and invective was exhausted in opposition, and it was even declared that it would be resisted in any event. The echoes of such declarations are still in our ears, and a majority of the Democratic Party yet maintain that the ratifications of the Southern States were secured by duress and force, and were therefore illegal. Under such circumstances it comes with an ill-grace from any portion of that Party to deride the importance of the accomplishment, or to declare their intention to advantage themselves of its enactment by "managing the votes of the ignorant classes," and by a sacrifice of prejudice on their part to catch the votes of the freedmen. Such evident duplicity and hypocrisy will surely fail of success, and then they who sought to practice it will be convinced that the Fifteenth Amendment is not such an idle "maneuver" as they would just now like to make it appear.

The panegyric of Gen. GARFIELD upon our system of internal taxation, delivered in the House yesterday, should not be accepted without some reservation. We doubt if Mr. GARFIELD himself would claim for the system the merit of perfection. There is no doubt that great improvements have been made since the system was first put in operation, but there is room for still further salutary changes. The income tax, for instance, is excessive, unequal in its application, and exceedingly inquisitorial in its operation. It needs radical reform. The tax on transportation is another imposition which works badly, and there are several other points in which the law needs to be amended. It is no imputation upon Congress that this is so. It would be singular if defects did not exist. Older countries are constantly tinkering their laws and conforming to the requirements of experience, and why should not we?

That there are people in the world foolish enough to believe anything that is told to them is well known, but such a story as that related at a City Police Court, on Thursday, would seem to show that we have not yet gauged the depth of human folly. A young woman sees an advertisement in a weekly paper for a wife. She replies to it, and is invited to come on to New-York without delay. Telling her parents that she has a business engagement here, she makes the journey without inquiry, and is received by the advertiser at a railway-station. Even now she does not know the man's name, but goes to a hotel with him, without a fear upon her mind, and ultimately is deserted and left to pay the bill. So much innocence has a suspicious look about it, but this girl had probably been reading "Ouida's" romances, and she may have thought it quite the proper thing for young women to go roving about with men whose very names they do not know. This girl brought her trouble upon herself, and deserves very little pity. In these days, young women ought to know that only rascals advertise for "wives."

The determination of the Supreme Court to reopen the question involved in the recent decision on the Legal-tender act, will be hailed with general satisfaction. The majority decision promulgated by Chief-Justice CHASE has never received the hearty acceptance of the best legal minds of the country, and the minority opinion delivered by Justice FIELD has generally been conceded to have been the more logical and sound. It is to be remembered that the decision, as announced, is not binding on the Court any longer than it chooses, and that it can be reversed on the very next occasion which may come before it. We are glad that the Court has concluded to grant a reargument of the question.

It was a mistake of ours to speak of the Camilla, which rescued the passengers of the Venezuela, as an American ship. She belongs to Messrs. PICKERELL BROS., of London, and is manned by a British crew—whereof Mr. HENRY PEACE is Captain. In this case, therefore, one English Captain assisted another, and we did not intend to convey—as an evening contemporary assumes—that such a deed was never to be looked for again. Inhumanity is not the appanage of any one nation in particular, and British seamen have often received rewards from our Government for helping ships in distress. All we say is that one or two well-known lines have suffered lately by the conduct of reckless or unfeeling Captains. Capt. EYRE is not a credit to the "P. & O." service, and that Manhattan story must be cleared up. On the latter subject we print a letter from the agents, Messrs. WILLIAMS & GUION. We all know, or at least would prefer to believe, that seamen like Capt. PEACE are far more common than those of the Eyre type; but at the same time it is impossible to ignore the moral of the deplorable incidents lately reported.

The Bible question in Cincinnati is to be brought to a direct issue on Monday next, when the election for members of the City School Board will take place. The question has been very warmly and thoroughly discussed, at public meetings and through the public Press, during the past few weeks, and, party politics being ignored, the citizens are divided into opponents and advocates of the exclusion of the Bible from the public schools. We shall be disappointed if the citizens of Cincinnati do not, by a large majority, manifest their determination to put down the attempt to undermine and destroy a distinctive feature of the public-school system.

A meeting of resident property-holders is called today to oppose the removal of the Central Park Commissioners. The subject is one which is exciting considerable apprehension, and despite the strong assurance that no changes in the personnel of the present Commission is intended, popular vigilance may be salutary. It would be a public calamity to have our Park management remanded to the manipulations of any political ring, and we hope that it will not be. If the meeting today shall elicit any additional security against such a change it will serve a good purpose.

The people of the age have not yet been able to come up to the idea of SHAKESPEARE'S Puck, though they have talked about it for a good while. Still they are evidently bound to girdle the earth in forty minutes, having just now, as Mr. CYRUS W. FIELD has shown, sixty-four lines of submarine telegraph at work, running to a length of over twenty-two thousand miles. The large gap in the circuit includes the Pacific and the space from China to Bombay, the present terminus of the wires going eastward. This wide stretch could be traversed by a line running north about from San Francisco, bringing Alaska into the circuit, and securing the cooperation of the Czar's people by touching the Russian coast somewhere. Such a course would probably pay better than a deep-sea communication more directly westward.

A lady writes to a Boston paper to complain that girls employed behind the counter give great offense to customers by their incivility. She says that ladies generally prefer stores where male clerks are employed, because they are sure of receiving decent treatment. A charge of this kind would be unjust as applied to girls generally, but in many cases there is too much foundation for it. Female clerks are rather disposed to adopt a tone of ineffable superiority toward the customers who require their services. This is surely a very great mistake for the girls to make, for it tends to set employers against them, and reduces their opportunities of earning an honest livelihood. Perhaps men are after all better fitted to sell goods in stores than the more patient and more ornamental sex.

This morning Mr. JAMES GORDON BENNETT, Jr., sails for Europe in the Lafayette, carrying with him the good wishes of the whole community. If pluck, energy and enterprise can win him the victory in the approaching contest, he will come back triumphant; but he has to take the chances of the sea, and it will be nothing to his discredit if he is beaten. At present we refuse to believe that the latter contingency is likely to trouble him. At any rate, he will be followed with more kindly feeling than it falls to the lot of most mortals to enjoy.

The unhappy organ-grinders have harrowed up the feelings of the Baltimoreans too long, and the grievances of the latter have found voice in the City Council. There the sounds of these squatter sovereigns were on Thursday night denounced as a nuisance to the store-keepers near whose places of business they establish themselves, and one member went so far as to describe street-organ music as "dulcet, lachrymose and uncouth." This is a queer collocation of terms, and it brought out from another member, who wishes the children of the city "musically edified," a proposition that the musicians should not be prohibited from following their avocation when parents request them to discourse music for their families. This initiated a direct conflict between the interests of the store-keepers and the inclinations of the parents, and, unable to settle so momentous a question at one sitting, the Council adjourned.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Gen. GARFIELD today closed the general debate on the Tariff bill in a most admirable speech, fully indicating his reputation as one of the clearest men in the House on the subject of taxation. He probably comes nearer to the position of a revenue tariff man than any member who has yet spoken. His analysis of the subject of taxation was very interesting, and during his remarks he stated some important facts regarding the manner in which taxation has been reduced by the action of Congress since we reached the summit of internal revenue in 1866. These facts are ignored or forgotten in the discussions of this subject, and Gen. GARFIELD did well to bring them forward so prominently. He stated that during the first session of the Thirty-ninth Congress internal taxes were reduced $60,000,000 at the second session of the Thirty-ninth Congress they were reduced $40,000,000; at the first and second sessions of the Forty-first Congress they were further reduced $70,000,000; in all a grand total of $170,000,000. Not only have the taxes thus been reduced by action of Congress, said Gen. GARFIELD, but they have also been greatly simplified. "We now tax," said he, "only three things: First, the vices of the country in its consumption of liquor and tobacco; second, the luxuries of the country; third, the realized wealth of the country in incomes and gross receipts. This," continued he, "constitutes the simple creed of our internal taxation." From his forcible remarks no other conclusion could be drawn except that, while internal revenue taxation can still further be abated, a still further reduction may be effected by a wise revision of the tariff. The House at the close of the speech took up the item of tea, the first in the bill, and discussed it for an hour and a half. The reduction on this item is from twenty-five to twenty cents. Mr. LOUGHRIDGE, of Iowa, proposed an amendment, admitting free of duty all tea imported direct from the country of its production in American vessels. This was pending when the Committee rose, and the discussion will go on to-morrow.

ADMITTANCE OF GEN. AMES.

Gen. AMES was admitted to his seat today, and Georgia is now the only State unrepresented in Congress. The vote on Gen. AMES showed the ridiculous figures of forty to twelve, only four Republicans siding with the Democrats. The entire debate has been, perhaps, the most tiresome and probably profitless that has taken place in the Senate in a long time. Some brilliant speeches were made, however, none more so than one by Mr. CONKLING, but the discussion was nevertheless wearisome. Mr. HOWARD expressed the popular estimation and opinion of the affair this afternoon, when he said the country was sick of and disgusted with it. Mr. CONKLING took the Michigan Senator very severely to task for this because it reflected in some measure on himself, but there is very little doubt that the great majority share Mr. HOWARD's sentiment on the subject, and the best proof of it is that everybody is rejoiced to-night that AMES has been disposed of. There was no occasion to search for Gen. AMES when the Vice-President called for him to present himself to be sworn in. He has occupied a seat on the floor every day since his case came up, and was present this afternoon when the vote was taken. He has a very youthful appearance, a very agreeable expression, and rejoices in good looks. The opposition have condescended to paint him a spurred and booted monster, but he seems a very mild-mannered gentleman indeed, and is anything but ferocious looking.

THE SENATE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE.

The crushing defeat which the Senate Judiciary Committee received today, as shown by the vote on the admission of Gen. AMES, is the subject of much comment to-night. So overwhelming an overthrow was scarcely to be expected. The leading members of the Committee are said to feel the blow very keenly, and there are rumors to-night that they will ask to be relieved from further service on that body. They have been defeated on every measure of reconstruction for the last two months. Virginia, Mississippi, Texas, have all been admitted on conditions diametrically opposed to the views of a majority of the Committee, and there appears to be every probability that they will be defeated in the Georgia debate, which is to be resumed next week. They do not forget Mr. DRAKE's rather insulting speech a few days ago, which was so thickly studded with the words, "we laid them (the Committee) out again, Sir." Referring to their repeated defeats and failures to carry their measures, Mr. BAYARD, of Delaware, today alluded to the subject, and, as if endeavoring to widen the breach and increase the animosity, argued that the failure of the Judiciary Committee to carry their bills and recommendations was what in England would be called a vote of want of confidence in the Minister. Mr. TRUMBULL and Mr. CONKLING are said to be particularly incensed, but whether they will endeavor to administer a rebuke to the majority by resigning is not yet positively known.

THE ONEIDA DISASTER.

Mr. MORTON gave notice in the Senate to-day that he would call up his resolution of censure on Capt. EYRE, in the case of the Oneida disaster, on Monday next. The feeling of condemnation of the British commander which prevails throughout the country for his inhumanity extends to Washington, and is largely shared by members of both Houses of Congress. It is not, however, altogether certain that Senators, in view of the novelty of the proposed resolution, will give their views on the subject a legislative embodiment, however indignant they may feel as the fellow-countrymen of the unfortunate sufferers.

THE CUBAN BONDS.

Dr. D. N. BLISS was before the SubJudiciary Committee this afternoon for the purpose of testifying as to the disposition of certain Cuban bonds which are believed to have been in his possession. What the doctor said has not transpired. He is a man from whom it would be difficult to extract anything he did not want to tell, and he will be further examined tomorrow. An attempt has been made to induce the Grand Jury to indict Dr. BLISS and several others for their participation in the Cuban cause, but without success. It is also said that the evidence thus given before the Grand Jury is the evidence which the Judiciary Committee is now retailing.

THE BANKING LAWS.

The Banking and Currency Committee at their regular meeting today, further considered the bills before them for an enlargement of the banking capital, and also bank sections of the Funding bill. There is much difference of opinion in the Committee, and it looks as though it would be almost impossible to agree upon any measure of first importance.

WORK IN THE HOUSE.

Mr. DAWES carried his point most handsomely, today, when he protested against a further waste of time by the House in useless debate and by adjournments over Saturday. He said he was impelled by the condition of the business of the House to say that if progress was to be made this session it must begin at once. The House sustained him by a vote of two to one, and the session to-morrow will be for regular business.

COMPROMISES IN THE TARIFF BILL.

It is understood that the Ways and Means Committee agreed today to recommend the admission of cotton machinery free of duty, in order to secure the votes of the Southern members for the balance of the Tariff bill. This is throwing overboard the New-England machinery interests, and will no doubt be properly appreciated. The last new phase of the Tariff bill will be the presentation of a monster petition in the Senate next week, by Mr. CATTELL, from some thousands of people in Pennsylvania and New-Jersey, who represent that the facts and figures given by the Commissioner in his last report are not correct so far as pig iron is concerned, and ask an investigation into them by the Senate. Inasmuch as Mr. WELLS furnished all of the facts and figures on which recent certain campaigns were fought in that section by the Republican Party, it would perhaps be well to inquire whether that statistical information which influenced the elections so largely and so much to the satisfaction of the Republican Party, was likewise correct and beyond all suspicion.

THE CHARGES AGAINST THE SENATE'S SECRETARY.

The Committee to which was intrusted by the Senate caucus the investigation of the charges preferred by Senator COLE against Mr. GORHAM, the Secretary of the Senate, have had two meetings, and taken testimony pro and con. They have come to no conclusion on the evidence, and will report without recommendation to the body which appointed them. It is difficult to say now what action will be finally taken in the case, but the prima facie view of it would appear to be favorable to Mr. GORHAM's continuance in office at least for some time longer.

THE PACIFIC RAILROADS.

The House Committee on Pacific Railroads agreed today to report a bill authorizing the construction of a road between Umatilla and Salt Lake City, the two points being distant about 500 miles. Twenty sections of land alternately on both sides of the road are given by way of assistance in the building.

THE SENATE EXECUTIVE SESSION.

The object of the Executive Session of the Senate this afternoon was in order that a motion might be entered to print the Darien Ship Canal treaty, which was sent to the Senate today.

FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

SECOND SESSION.

SENATE......WASHINGTON, Friday, April 1.

Mr. CASSERLY presented resolutions of the California Legislature for the abolition of the income tax, and, in asking its reference to the Finance Committee, he remarked that the sentiment of his State was averse to a longer continuance of the tax as oppressive and unjust. He also presented a concurrent resolution of the California Legislature for the establishment of a mail service between San Diego, Cal., and Salt Lake City, Utah. The first resolution was referred to the Finance Committee and the latter to the Post-office Committee.

THE FLORIDA SENATORSHIP.

Mr. OSBORN presented a petition of O. B. HART, of Florida, setting forth that the election of Senator GILBERT, of that State, was illegal and void; that he (HART) had subsequently been elected in compliance with the terms of the act of Congress regulating the time and manner of holding elections for Senators in Congress, which law was disregarded in the election of Mr. GILBERT, and asking to be admitted to the seat now occupied by that gentleman.

Mr. OSBORN moved to refer the petition, with the various accompanying papers, to the Judiciary Committee. Agreed to.

A PERSONAL EXPLANATION.

Mr. POMEROY made a personal explanation by way of correction of a statement in a recent response from the Secretary of the Treasury to a House resolution relating to certain unexpended balances of former appropriations. The statement had reference to an appropriation during Mr. LINCOLN's administration, for colonization purposes, twenty-five thousand dollars being assigned to the enterprise which he was appointed by Mr. LINCOLN to superintend. He had promptly made his returns to the Secretary of the Interior and settled his accounts, and the papers were filed in the Interior Department. They were never sent to the Treasury Department, and hence arose the misapprehension of the Secretary that the account had not yet been settled.

ENFORCEMENT OF THE NEW AMENDMENT.

After the expiration of the morning hour, Mr. MORTON introduced as a substitute for the former bill on the same subject, a bill to enforce the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. The following is the bill:

Be it enacted, &c., That if any person shall prevent, hinder, control, or intimidate, or shall attempt to prevent, hinder, control, or intimidate any person from exercising or in exercising the right of suffrage to whom the right of suffrage is secured or guaranteed by the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, by means of bribery, threats, or threats of depriving such person of employment or occupation, or of ejecting such person from rented house, lands or other property, or by labor, or by threats of violence to himself or family, such person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned for not less than sixty days nor more than six months, and fined in any sum not less than $500, nor more than $1,000.

SEC. 2. That if any person shall hinder, delay, prevent, or obstruct, or attempt to hinder, delay, prevent, or obstruct any person from voting at any Presidential, Congressional, State, county, town, or municipal election in any State, Territory, or District on account of race, color, or previous conditions of servitude, or shall, acting in the capacity of a State, county, township, municipal, territorial, or district officer, fail, refuse, or neglect to perform any official act with intent to prevent, hinder, or delay any persons as aforesaid from voting at any election as aforesaid, such person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned for not less than sixty days nor more than six months, and fined any sum not less than $500 nor more than $1,000.

SEC. 3. That the Circuit and District Courts of the United States shall have jurisdiction over offenses created by this act.

THE ONEIDA DISASTER.

Mr. MORTON gave notice that on Monday he would move to take from the table the resolution in regard to the Oneida catastrophe.

THE CASE OF GEN. AMES.

At 1¼ o'clock the regular order, the case of Gen. AMES, was proceeded with, and Mr. BAYARD obtained the floor. He made a long argument to prove that, as an army officer, Gen. AMES could not be deemed an inhabitant of Mississippi either in accordance with the letter or the spirit of the Constitution, and thus his admission to the seat would be a partisan measure. Mr. SHERMAN replied, denying the charge of being influenced by partisan considerations. Mr. EDMUNDS followed in the same view of the case. The debate was further participated in by Messrs. TRUMBULL, SUMNER, CARPENTER and DAVIS. Various authorities upon the legal question were cited and discussed by Messrs. TRUMBULL, SUMNER, EDWARDS and CONKLING, the latter charging that the friends of AMES were disputing against an unbroken current of authority bearing upon the case, and in their desperation were hunting around for some respectable apology for their action. Finally Mr. SUMNER moved to amend the report of the Judiciary Committee by striking out the word "not," so as to make it read, "that ADELBERT AMES is eligible to the seat in the Senate of the United States to which he has been appointed."

A vote being taken, Mr. SUMNER's motion was agreed to by yeas 40, nays 12, as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Abbott, Brownlow, Cameron, Cattell, Chandler, Cole, Corbett, Cragin, Drake, Fenton, Flanagan, Gilbert, Hamilton of Texas, Hamlin, Harris, Howard, Howe, Howell, McDonald, Morrill of Maine, Morrill of Vermont, Nye, Osborne, Patterson, Pomeroy, Pool, Ramsey, Revels, Rice, Ross, Scott, Thurman, Spencer, Stewart, Sumner, Thayer, Tipton, Warner, Williams, Wilson—40.

NAYS—Messrs. Bayard, Carpenter, Casserly, Conkling, Davis, Edmunds, McCreery, Norton, Pool, Sawyer, Trumbull, Vickers—12.

The report of the Committee as thus amended declaring AMES entitled to admission was then adopted.

By invitation of the Chair, Mr. AMES presented himself and took the usual oath of office.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

PETITIONS.

Petitions were presented as follows:

By Mr. COX—Of sixty New-York merchants, for free pig-lead.

By Mr. SARGENT—Of eight hundred merchants and artisans of San Francisco, for the encouragement of domestic ship-building.

By Mr. O'NEILL—Resolutions of the Board of Trade of Philadelphia recommending the construction of a harbor of refuge on Block Island.

By Mr. MYERS—Of the Philadelphia Medical Association, for assimilated rank to medical officers of the navy.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. MOORE, of New-Jersey, introduced a joint resolution granting condemned ordnance for a soldiers' monument at Farmount Cemetery, Newark, N. J. Passed.

Mr. BENNETT introduced a joint resolution directing the Secretary of the Treasury to inquire relative to the state of trade between the United States and the British Provinces of North America for the purpose of ascertaining whether more advantageous relations to the commerce of the United States may not be established, and authorizing him to appoint a suitable person to make such inquiry, with remuneration of $10 a day and ten cents a mile traveling expenses. Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

THE TARIFF—FURTHER DEBATE.

The House then, at 1½ o'clock, went into Committee on the Tariff bill, Mr. WHEELER in the chair, having first granted another extension of an hour for general debate on the bill.

Mr. GARFIELD addressed the Committee. He said: Forty-five speeches had been made on this Tariff bill about two abstract ideas, the one under the name of free trade, and the other under the name of protection; and he could not dissent from the statement of his colleague (Mr. SCHENCK) that a large part of the debate did not apply to the bill. He believed that no one would deny that the scholarship of the civilized world was in favor of free trade.

Mr. KELLEY—I think it is the very reverse, and that the tendency of the scholarly mind is toward the protective system.

Mr. GARFIELD was glad that his friend from Pennsylvania put in that disclaimer, because it would be a fulcrum on which some more of his remarks would turn. In the consideration of a Tariff bill at this time two leading facts were to be kept in view: First, the supply of the Treasury from Customs receipts with one hundred and fifty millions of dollars of gold annually; and, second, the wants of American industry. He objected to any view that would treat American industry as one particular business. And he objected to any classification that singled out a pursuit. He eulogized the system of internal revenue taxation, as applying to three things. First, it taxed the vices of the people—these paid almost half the taxes raised under the Internal Revenue law; second, it taxed the luxuries of the people, and from that source nearly one-fourth of the internal revenue came; third, it taxed the realized wealth of the country in the shape of income and gross receipts. In reference to iron, he said that there were now 445 iron furnaces in blast in the United States, of which nineteen were in his district. This bill proposed to reduce the duty on pig iron two dollars per ton, equivalent to twenty-two and a half per cent. If the House thought that that ought to be done, he would not resist it, although his constituents were opposed to it. He was firmly of the opinion that the wisest thing which the protectionists of the House could do was to reunite in a reasonable reduction of the general rates of duties on imported articles. If they did not do it of their own volition, they would have to submit to a violent reduction, one which would without much discrimination sweep across industry in a vigorous way. He warned them that there would be a reaction which would break down the protection system, and he believed that the wisest thing its friends could do was to stand by and to see that the reduction was steadily and prudently and carefully made. He warned them that there were seventy Democrats on the floor who were nearly all avowedly free traders.

Mr. WOOD—I do not know a single free-trader as such on this side of the House.

Mr. GARFIELD (indicating him)—There is one.

Mr. COX—Yes, Sir.

Mr. MUNGEN—Here is another.

Mr. WOOD—I am in favor of a tariff for revenue, but I am not for absolute free trade; and I believe that to be the general opinion on this side of the House.

Mr. GARFIELD—In addition to that force over yonder, let me say that if you draw a line by the west side of Ohio, by the north side of Arkansas, you will find nine States, every one of them Republican, some of them overwhelmingly Republican, yet, if I have correctly taken the census of the States in the House, out of the fifty-seven votes which these States cast on this floor, there are fifty-one who will probably vote for a reduction of the tariff in some shape; and if they be not gratified by some substantial reduction, they are likely to go a good deal further toward our Democratic friends than they might otherwise.

CONSIDERATION OF THE BILL.

The House then proceeded to consider the bill by sections for amendment.

On motion of Mr. SCHENCK, after discussion, the blank in the first section, fixing the time when the bill is to go into effect, was filled with the word "October," so that it shall go into effect on the 1st of October, 1870.

THE TEA TAX.

The following clause having been reached: "On teas of all kinds twenty cents per pound," Mr. LOUGHRIDGE moved to amend by adding a proviso to admit, free of duty, tea when imported in American vessels, or foreign vessels entitled by reciprocal treaties to exemption from discriminating duties.

Mr. COX did not care particularly in what vessels tea came in, so that it came free; but he apprehended that the proposed reduction on tea was only an ingenious device to keep up the tariff on pig iron and woolen and cotton goods.

Mr. SCHENCK defended the action of the Committee, and said that the discrimination proposed in Mr. LOUGHRIDGE's amendment would not amount to anything. He would prefer a direct vote on the question of reducing or abolishing the duty on tea. He thought that the condition of the Treasury would not justify a further reduction to that recommended by the Committee. The estimated revenue on tea at twenty cents a pound was $7,878,351, although the free traders in their proposed tariff thought that the Government ought to get ten millions from that source.

Mr. INGERSOLL suggested the propriety of having a classification of tea so that the higher classes should pay more duty than the lower classes.

Mr. SCHENCK opposed that as opening the doors to fraud, misrepresentations and undervaluations.

After further discussion, and without disposing of the tea question, the Committee, at 3½ o'clock P. M., rose.

CLAIMS FOR WORK ON THE CAPITOL DOME.

The House then went into Committee on the Private Calendar, Mr. NIBLACK in the chair, and took up the bill to pay to JONAS FOWLER and KIRTLAND, of New-York, contractors for building the dome of the Capitol, $60,000, in full satisfaction of all claims for losses or damages arising from the action of the Government in suspending the work.

After explanation by Mr. WASHBURN, of Massachusetts, the Committee rose and reported the bill, which was thereupon passed.

BILLS REFERRED AND PASSED.

The House then went to the business on the Speaker's table. Various bills and executive documents were taken up and referred.

The Senate amendment to the House bill for the relief of A. J. ATOCHA was concurred in; so, also, was the Senate amendment to the bill allowing application to be made for the extension of the patent of TOBIAS J. KINDLEBERGER. The Senate bill authorizing the Librarian of Congress to return to the executors of THOMAS JEFFERSON his private papers was passed. The Senate bill giving the consent of the United States to the erection of a bridge across the Delaware River between Philadelphia and Camden was explained, advocated by Messrs. INGERSOLL and O'NEILL, and passed. The Senate bill authorizing the adjustment of the accounts of EZRA CARTER, Jr., late Collector of Customs at Portland, Me., was passed.

AN OREGON RAILWAY GRANT.

Mr. HOLMAN moved its reference to the Committee on Public Lands, and sent to the Clerk's desk and had read the memorial, which has been extensively signed and forwarded to members from various parts of the country, against further grants of public lands to railroad corporations. He referred to the outcry of the Press against the same great evil.

Mr. SMITH, of Oregon, made an appeal in favor of the passage of the bill, stating that it had already been considered by the Committee on Public Lands and approved; that it was well guarded in every respect, and that it provided for the sale of the lands to actual settlers only in lots of not over 160 acres and at the maximum price of $2 50 an acre.

After further discussion, in which much interest was manifested, the House, without disposing of the question, took a recess at 4½ till 7½ o'clock this evening.

The evening session is to be for general debate on the President's annual message.

EVENING SESSION.

When the House met this evening, there were but five members present. Of these, Mr. WILSON, of Minnesota, was in the chair, two composed the auditory and two did the speaking. These latter were Mr. LAWRENCE, of Ohio, on the question of finances, and Mr. BENNETT, of New-York, on the question of making the Erie Canal a free highway.

English Publications.

The missing mail by the Samaria having now arrived, subscribers to the Graphic and other foreign publications will do well to make up their sets. Mr. BRENTANO has a wonderful collection of magazines on sale—among them Temple Bar, London Society, (with excellent illustrations,) [illegible] World of Fashion, Young Lady's Journal, Bow Bells, Punch, Graphic, Nature, and the Illustrated London News. Long as the list is, it includes only a small part of the unequaled collection of foreign periodical literature imported by BRENTANO.

AMUSEMENTS.

Amusements of the Day.

The last matinée and farewell performance of Mme. PAREPA-ROSA and company at the Academy of Music occurs today. "The Bohemian Girl" will be sung....The Philharmonic Concert, for which a general rehearsal in presence of a tremendous audience was held yesterday, takes place this evening at the Academy. ....The fiftieth performance of "Frou Frou," at the Fifth-avenue Theatre, witnessed last evening, is to be followed by the usual matinée representation of that very successful production today. A "Frou Frou" matinée is a boon to the ladies and to out-of-town families....The dramatic performance by M. and Mme. MOREAU, M. JUIGNET and several French artists, which was given on Thursday at the Theater Francais, is to be repeated at that house to-night. The company will act MEILHAC and HALEVY's comedy of "Frou Frou," erroneously credited by us a few days ago to VICTORIEN SARDOU, under the joint influence of that author's name, which is attached to most of the successful plays of the hour, and of the general disregard for the rights of French authors, whose involuntary contributions do not now swell the repertory of the British stage only. ....Mr. F. H. TORRINGTON, of Boston, organist, and Miss JULIA GAYLORD, soprano, will perform at the usual concert at Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, today, at 4 o'clock.

To the Rescue.

The building now occupied by "The Midnight Mission"—at an annual rental of $2,500—accommodates but twenty inmates, besides the persons in charge; the house is constantly full—and more than full—and the managers are compelled to turn away from their doors an average of ten girls per week, simply because "there is no room." For every girl sent to a situation, or restored to friends, a score are ready to take her place. It is very desirable that the Mission become possessed of a large building of its own, in order that it may be relieved from the burden of extravagant rents, and from other inconveniences attending the use for such purposes of hired tenements. A large building, favorably located, capable of accommodating sixty persons, can be had for $40,000. Rev. Washington Rodman, of West Farms, on visiting the Mission a few days since, and seeing its great need, pledged himself to be one of one thousand persons who would give $40 each toward the purchase of the house. Who will be the remaining nine hundred ninety and nine? Christian men and women, will you not respond promptly to this appeal? It does not seem possible that it will be necessary to repeat this notice to secure the requisite number of subscribers.

The $40 can be paid at once, or, if more convenient, by four semi-annual payments of $10 each—the first payment to be made on or before the 1st of May.

From the Churchman, (Hartford,) March 12.

Of all the benevolent purposes out of which spring the many charitable institutions of our land, none is more lovely than that of the Midnight Mission. That purpose is to seek out those young women in the City of New-York who have, for any cause whatever, abandoned themselves or been abandoned to prostitution—that most hideous living death—and bring them back to religion and a godly life; to bring them to their mother, the Church, and teach them to know and delight in the love of their Heavenly Father.

As has been well said, if two or three little children have strayed from their father's house, how quickly a whole neighborhood rouses itself for the search, and relaxes no effort to bring them back. The whole country is awake with sympathy, and the telegraph flashes the daily results until the lost ones are restored or their dead bodies reveal the terrible starvation and suffering they have undergone.

The Midnight Mission is doing this same thing for those who have strayed away spiritually from their homes. Many a young woman, who found in the first few hours, or weeks, or months of liberty a certain pleasure, but afterward was consumed by a terrible hunger of the heart, the zealous workers in the Midnight Mission have sought out and restored. Their statement in another column of the Churchman ought to bring them almost unlimited support in their loving work.

And this support should go to them, not from New-York City only, but from the entire country. The ghastly multitude of those for whom they work are not supplied from the City alone. Day by day it is drawing in young women, now from one village and now from another village, for hundreds of miles away. In fact, every woman who has a sister or a daughter, or better still, let every woman whom the love of Christ has taught to regard all other women as sisters, send something to the Treasurer of the Midnight Mission.—Advertisement.

THE NEW-YORK TIMES.

SUNDAY EDITION.

The TIMES of to-morrow, Sunday, will contain all the news of interest and importance about home and abroad, that our reporters and correspondents may gather and the telegraph and mails bring us; and also a variety of miscellaneous matter specially prepared for this edition, of which may be mentioned:

A page of SUNDAY READINGS, including poetry, two stories, and the choicest extracts from the leading and the freshest magazines and books of the day;

A good letter from "MONADNOCK" on affairs in England; comments on late proceedings in Parliament; ballot vs. bullet; an Irish election; the national ignorance, &c., &c.;

An exceedingly interesting article on JEWISH PROGRESS IN BROOKLYN, giving significant facts which doubtless very few are aware of;

Something about PROFESSIONAL SMUGGLERS AND THEIR METHODS: how the Government is swindled by immigrants; inspections of baggage and persons, and what comes of them; operations of the Customs Department at Castle Garden;

Numerous interesting letters from numbers of correspondents on the BIBLE in the SCHOOLS QUESTION, which will be found suggestive reading at this time;

Also, Notes on plays and players; summaries of religious and foreign intelligence; National Guard News and Gossip, &c., &c., &c.

The Sunday edition of the TIMES is still popular, and has a large circulation. Advertisers will find it a valuable medium, as the best classes in and about the City read it regularly. Advertisements intended for this edition must be received in the TIMES Publication office before 9 o'clock this evening, to insure the proper classification.

Neglected Coughs and Colds.—Few are aware of the importance of checking a Cough or "Common Cold" in its first stage; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon preys upon the Lungs. "BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES," or COUGH LOZENGES, afford instant relief.

Owing to the good reputation and popularity of the Troches, many worthless and cheap imitations are offered, which are good for nothing. Be sure to obtain the true "BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES." Sold everywhere.

Get Rid of Your Cold at Once, or you may keep on racking your lungs with a Cough, until at last they are irritated into a condition ripe for the production of tubercles; and then, instead of a simple, easily-cured affection, you will have to deal with Consumption. Dr. JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT will promptly cure all Coughs and Colds, and by imparting vigor to the respiratory organs, enable them freely to throw off obstructions engendered by neglected Colds, and heal all sore or inflamed parts. Sold everywhere.

The Rice Divorce Suit for Fraud in Age is causing great excitement in Boston. It should warn young men not to marry in haste. Rice is but 22, his bride 37. He swears that she made him believe she was but his own age, by using MAGNOLIA BALM upon her face, neck and hands. Poor youth. He probably found her elbows weren't quite so soft and pretty. Ought Hagan to be indicted? We know of many similar cases. This BALM gives a most wonderful pearly and natural complexion, to which we don't object. We like pretty women. To finish the picture, they should use LYON'S KATHAIRON upon the hair. With pearly chin, rosy cheeks, and soft, luxuriant tresses, they become irresistible.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.—This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world. Harmless, reliable, instantaneous. Does not contain lead, nor any vitalic poison to produce paralysis and death. Avoid the vaunted and delusive preparations boasting virtues they do not possess. The genuine W. A. BATCHELOR'S HAIR DYE has thirty years' reputation to uphold its integrity as the only perfect Hair Dye. Black or brown. Sold by all druggists. Applied at No. 16 Bond-st., New-York.

To remove Moth Patches, Freckles and Tan from the Face, use PERRY'S MOTH AND FRECKLE LOTION. Sold by all druggists. Prepared only by Dr. B. C. PERRY, No. 49 Bond-st.

White Clothing is Beautifully Bleached when washed with Pyle's (Pure) "O. K." Soap. Sold by all first-class grocers, and by JAMES PYLE, No. 350 Washington-st.

Wedding, Visiting and Ball Cards. Monograms, French initialed note papers, &c. EVERDELL'S elegant styles, No. 302 Broadway.

Tuck Marker Headquarters for Sewing Machines—"Fuller and Barnum and Goodrich," $1. I. W. BARNUM, No. 636 Broadway, New-York.

To Ruptured Persons.—Dr. SHERMAN'S method is a guarantee cure. Office, No. 697 Broadway.

A TALE
FOR
BY GRACE AGUILAR.
1 vol., 12mo, 386 pages, cloth. Price $1.

"Grace Aguilar wrote and spoke as one inspired; she condensed and spiritualized, and all her thoughts and feelings were steeped in the essence of celestial love and truth. To those who really knew Grace Aguilar, all eulogium falls short of her deserts, and she has left a blank in her particular walk of literature which we never expect to see filled up."—Pilgrimages to English Shrines, by Mrs. Hall.

"A clever and interesting tale, corresponding well to its name, illustrating the silent, constant influence of a wise and affectionate parent over characters the most diverse."—Christian Lady's Magazine.

"It is very pleasant, after reading a book, to speak of it in terms of high commendation. The tale before us is an admirable one, and is executed with taste and ability. The language is beautiful and appropriate; the analysis of character is skillful and varied. The work ought to be in the hands of all who are interested in the proper training of the youthful mind."—Palladium.

"In reviewing this work, we hardly know what words in the English language are strong enough to express the admiration we have felt in its perusal."—Bucks Chronicle.

"The object and end of the writings of Grace Aguilar were to improve the heart, and to lead her readers to the consideration of higher motives and objects than this world can ever afford."—Bell's Weekly Messenger.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF HERBERT SPENCER.

publish this day,
Part II. of Spencer's Principles of Psychology, embracing
THE INDUCTIONS OF PSYCHOLOGY.
148 pages. Price 75 cents.

Two parts of this great work are now completed; The Data of Psychology, The Inductions of Psychology. This work is thought by many able judges to be the most original and valuable contribution to the science of mind that has appeared in the present century. John Stuart Mill says it is "one of the finest examples we possess of the psychological method in its full power." Dr. G. D. Morell says it is "the most successful analysis which this subject has yet received in our own country." Dr. McCosh says "his bold generalizations are always suggestive, and some may in the end be established in the profoundest laws of the knowable universe." George Ripley says "Spencer is as keen an analysist as is known in the history of Philosophy; I do not except either Aristotle or Kant whom he greatly resembles." George Henry Lewes says "It is very doubtful whether any thinker of finer calibre has appeared in our country."

REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION.

LAWRENCE, OAKLEY & FLEURY, Auctioneers.

AUCTION SALE OF GUNTHER'S ESTATE, IN JAMAICA, L. I.—Donated by Mr. W. H. Gunther to the German Hospital and Dispensary in the City of New-York, and the German Ladies' Society for the Relief of the Indigent Widows and Sick.

Peremptory sale.

The splendid country-seat of the late C. G. Gunther, situated in the limits of the thriving village of Jamaica, L. I., having been donated by Mr. W. H. Gunther, son of the deceased C. G. Gunther, to the above-named two benevolent societies, the trustees of this magnificent gift have decided to have the same laid out in lots and sold at public auction by LAWRENCE, OAKLEY & FLEURY,

On Thursday, April 14,

1870, at 12 o'clock, noon, at the Exchange Sales-rooms, No. 111 Broadway, in the City of New-York.

The elegant and spacious mansion and out-buildings, in best repair, together with an acre of land, tastefully laid out, also,

EIGHTY-TWO LOTS.

This fine property is most beautifully situated on high ground, on the northern border of the village, overlooking it in every direction, and having most extensive and interesting views of the surrounding country.

The Long Island, South Side and Brooklyn Central Railroads run twenty trains daily to and from the City, giving easy access within twenty-five minutes, at a commutation of $50 per annum, the station being within ten minutes' walk of the property. Horse-cars leave every twenty minutes for New-York, starting within a few hundred feet of the property.

The easy and commodious access the healthy and beautiful village now enjoys have made the same equal, if not superior, to almost any other in the vicinity, and business men, mechanics, clerks, &c., can reach their residence in the village in almost as short a time and much more comfortably than those living in the upper part of the City.

In addition to these attractions we may add that Mr. A. T. Stewart has bought, and is now improving, the tract of land in direct line with the property in question, and the improvement of it can only add to the value of this property.

TERMS OF SALE.—Ten per cent. cash and auctioneer's fee on day of sale, forty per cent. on the 2d day of May, balance of fifty per cent. to remain on bond and mortgage, or at the option of the purchaser.

TRUSTEES,
J. EDGAR THOMSON, Philadelphia,

These Bonds are payable, principal and interest, in coin, at New-York or London; the interest being payable in May and November.

They are convertible into stock, and are protected by a liberal Sinking Fund.

They are issued upon the several sections of the road only as the same are completed and in successful operation.

They are guaranteed not only by a first lien upon the entire property and franchises of the Company, but also by now current earnings and an ample commerce on the route of the road, and have not to depend for their security upon a traffic which the road itself is expected to create.

Over Three Million Dollars have been already expended on the road.

Eighty-three miles of road are already completed and equipped, and show large earnings; and the remainder of the line is progressing rapidly towards completion.

The State of Iowa, through which this road runs, is one of the richest agricultural sections of America. Its large and extending population, and its immense yield of agricultural products, create a pressing demand for the construction of this road.

The road also runs through the fertile and growing State of Minnesota. It traverses the most enterprising and growing portion of the West, and forms the shortest of the great trunk lines in direct communication with New-York, Chicago and St. Louis.

Having thoroughly investigated all the conditions affecting the security of these bonds, we feel justified in giving them an unqualified indorsement as a first-class and thoroughly safe investment, as secure as a Government bond can possibly be, and paying nearly fifty per cent. more interest than five-twenties.

All marketable securities at their full price, free of commission and express charges, received in payment. Pamphlets and maps furnished on application.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

NEW-YORK.

The Union League Club will hold a special meeting, this evening, to consider the City charter now before the Legislature.

A few days ago some boys set fire to a load of baled hemp which was being hauled up Eighth-avenue, and yesterday the same kind of malicious mischief was practised upon WILLIAM H. TAYLOR, of No. 423 West Thirty-fifth-street. He was driving up Hudson-street with a load of worsted, and when near Clarkson-street discovered that it was burning at the rear of the wagon. The flames were extinguished with a few pails of water and before more than $60 worth of the property had been destroyed. Although no one was seen to apply the match, the fire was undoubtedly the work of the unruly urchins who infest the street.

The Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, erected principally by the liberality of the late W. W. CORNELL, on One Hundred and Fourth-street, near Ninth-avenue, will be dedicated to-morrow. Preaching—Morning, Bishop JANES; afternoon, Rev. Dr. FERRIS; evening, Rev. Dr. FOSTER. The best way to reach the church is by Eighth-avenue cars, leaving them at One Hundred and Fifth-street. It is hoped there will be a large attendance out of respect to the memory of Mr. CORNELL, and to help on the cause of church extension.

Four theatrical swords, formerly the property of the late CHAS. KEAN, were sold at auction by LEAVITT, STREBEIGH & CO., last evening. The first known as the "Louis XIth." sword brought $16; the second known as the "Cup" sword brought $8; the third known as the "Jewel" sword brought $8 50, and the fourth, with a pair of pistols and a cutlass, sold for $8. A number of portraits of theatrical celebrities were also disposed of at rather low prices.

The officers of Empire Division No. 22, Sons of Temperance, were installed at their room, Brevoort Hall, last evening, by their Deputy Grand Worthy Patriarch, C. E. ABBOTT, and consisted of the following: VALENTINE STRATTON, W. P.; C. A. SHOREY, W. A.; GEO. W. ARNOLD, R. S.; E. D. HOPKINS, A. R. S.; Treasurer, NATHANIEL KELLY. The Grand Scribe, E. H. HOPKINS, and J. WILLIAMSON MOORE, P. W. P., were present.

A public meeting of gentlemen, owning and interested in real estate in this City, to give expression to the public confidence in the present Central Park Board, their capacity and integrity, and in opposition to any measures at Albany to displace them, will be held at the real estate sales-room, No. 111 Broadway, at 11 o'clock this day.

All who have leisure to-morrow evening, may spend an instructive hour in listening to the lecture of Dr. T. S. LAMBERT on the "Physiology of the Desire for Alcoholics." This is said to be an exceedingly interesting and valuable application of science, especially profitable to ladies who need to learn how, by food and its cooking, to control the desire of their husbands and brothers for stimulants. The lecture has been highly commended in other cities.

Last evening a grand demonstration and thanksgiving meeting was held by the colored people of this City, in the Bethel Church, Sullivan-street, in honor of the passage and proclamation of the Fifteenth Amendment. Long before the time appointed the church was filled, and at about 9 o'clock it was crowded to its utmost capacity. Speeches were made by Rev. Mr. BUTLER, of Zion Church, Rev. Mr. TURPIN and others. The choir sang some very appropriate hymns, selected for the occasion.

The Executive Committee of the General Republican Central Committee met last night at their head-quarters, corner of Twenty-first-street and Broadway, and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, BENJAMIN F. MANIERRE; Secretaries, GEO. F. CACHMAN and ABRAHAM BROWN. (Both re-elected.) The General Committee will meet at Albany on Thursday next.

The stockholders of the Harlem River and Port Chester Railroad Company have elected the following directors for the ensuing year: N. A. Baldwin, of Milford, Conn.; Wilson G. Hunt, New-York; E. H. The monthly review of Sunday-school lessons of the Howard Mission and Home for Little Wanderers, No. 40 New Bowery, takes place at 2½ P. M. next Sunday. The exercises will be conducted by WM. H. SUTTON, of Jersey City, the Sunday-school Superintendent, and by Rev. ALPHA TAYLOR, editor of the Sunday-school Workman. Visitors are always welcome at the Home.

TEDDY RYAN, who a short time since became possessed of Mrs. FRELEIGH'S diamonds under rather peculiar circumstances, yesterday, accompanied by JAMES SMITH, went into the house of Mrs. JOHANNA NOSSER, at No. 554 Second avenue, and, under pretense of inquiring for some person, forced his way into the lady's room, and most daringly snatched her pocket-book containing $50 from her dress pocket. The lady held on to the wallet and RYAN only succeeded in making away with $16. The outcries of Mrs. NOSSER attracted a crowd, and, mirabile dictu, a policeman, who arrested TEDDY and his pal. They were brought to the Yorkville Court and committed for examination.

Detective TULLY, of the Central Police, last evening arrested JOHN NORRIS on a charge of breaking into the room of JULIAN BETTEN, at No. 58 Bond-street, and stealing clothing valued at $100. The prisoner is said by the Police to be a notorious character, who has several times been arrested for daring crimes, but has always heretofore succeeded in evading punishment. He was locked up at the Central Police Office, and will be arraigned before Justice DOWLING this morning.

HERMAN FIBEL, proprietor of the clothing-store No. 410 Grand-street, was brought up at the Essex Market Police Court, yesterday, before Judge SCOTT, charged with setting fire to his premises on the evening of the 27th of February. The fire broke out in the store twice that day, and from that and other circumstances connected with it, Fire-Marshal BRACKETT was led to believe that it was malicious, and inquiry justified his suspicion. The premises were insured for $9,000, and the damage sustained on the occasion was alleged to be over $4,000. The prisoner was arrested yesterday, and was held to answer.

A meeting of the attachés of the Custom-house was held yesterday afternoon, at which resolutions were adopted expressing sympathy for the family of Surveyor A. B. CORNELL, whose little boy EDDIE was killed, on Thursday evening, by falling over the bannisters at the Fifth-avenue Hotel.

A regular meeting of the Working Men's Union was held last evening at their assembly-room, No. 267 Bowery, the President, NELSON W. YOUNG, in the chair. The Secretary, Mr. ROBERT BLISSERT, sent in his resignation, and MICHAEL P. MURPHY, of the Knights of St. Crispin, was unanimously elected in his stead. After an address from Mr. LOUIS FROMME, Ex-Vice-President of the association, in which he referred to its present flourishing condition, the meeting adjourned.

FRANK BELLMAN was brought up at the Essex Market Police Court, yesterday, before Justice SCOTT, charged with a felonious assault on JOSEPH BECHERER, No. 516 East Fifth-street, on the previous day. The assault originated in a quarrel between the parties, when the prisoner seized a large table-knife with which he stabbed the prosecutor in the back. The knife entered the lung and inflicted an extremely painful though not a dangerous wound. The prisoner admitted the offense, but stated that he was induced to commit the assault in self-defense. Justice SCOTT committed the prisoner for trial at the Court of General Sessions.

A man supposed to be PIERRE CHADUC, a native of France, aged forty-eight, dropped dead yesterday in the lager-beer saloon No. 226 William-street, from natural causes. The remains were removed to the Morgue, where Dr. CUSHMAN will make a post-mortem examination, prior to an inquest by Coroner SCHIRMER.

Hon. CASSIUS M. CLAY has sent a reply to the letter of Gov. PALMER, of Illinois, relating that gentleman's refusal to act as Vice-President of the Cuban Charitable Aid Society.

BROOKLYN.

JOHN LOONEY, conductor of an Atlantic-street car, expelled an intoxicated man from his car yesterday evening. The man was so drunk that he was unable to walk, and the conductor walked along Furman-street with him for a short distance. The drunken man suddenly drew a knife and was about to stab his companion, when the conductor threw him down, and the knife entered into the man's arm. He was taken to the Station-house, but refused to give his name.

The colored citizens of Brooklyn and Williamsburg have arranged to celebrate the passage of the Fifteenth Amendment on Monday, the 11th inst. The proceedings of the day will open with a parade, and in the evening a public meeting will be held in the Academy of Music, when Hon. HIRAM S. REVELS, Senator of Mississippi, will deliver an address. Hon. SCHUYLER COLFAX and Hon. REUBEN E. FENTON are also expected to be present.

The South Brooklyn roughs had, yesterday evening, another of their periodical struggles with the Police. About 6 o'clock, while Officers MCKEON and DONAHUE, of the Forty-third Precinct, were proceeding to arrest PATRICK KEN- [illegible] officers fought bravely and retaliated [illegible]. Officers UTTER and STEADMAN came to the rescue and assisted in resisting the [illegible]. MCKEON was hurt in the back with a stone. DONAHUE was hit with a brickbat, and the officers were badly beaten.

Additional testimony has been submitted in the Judson case by Mr. SIMONSON, Assistant Postmaster, to the effect that the amount of unpaid money lying in the Post-office on a given date was different from what had previously been deposed to. Leave has been granted to produce Ex-Postmaster CAMPBELL as a witness.

The third trial of EDMUND PERRY will commence at the Court of Oyer and Terminer on Monday, the 11th inst. As previously stated, 800 jurymen have been summoned so as to provide against all possibility of delay from objections. Judge BARNUM will occupy the Bench.

MARY DALY, who keeps a grocery-store at No. 31 Sackett-street, was arrested yesterday evening for a felonious assault upon her uncle, PETER DALY, an old man of seventy, who boards with her. The two had been drinking to excess, and in the course of a quarrel which ensued, MARY threw a hatchet at the old man, wounding him in the body and breaking his leg. He was conveyed to the Long Island College Hospital.

The case of The United States vs. RAYMOND came up before Commissioner JONES yesterday. The defendant was arrested some time ago on a charge of illicit distillation, and appeared to state that the informants against him had sworn before Supervisor DUTCHER that the previous statements were untrue. An adjournment was granted to procure the attendance of these parties.

LONG ISLAND.

No arrangements have yet been made by the South-side Railroad Company for depot accommodations at Hunter's Point. In the meantime the connection between the old Flushing track, bought in their interest, and their road at Fresh Pond, is progressing. The road bed is nearly all constructed and the iron partly laid. The two new dummy engines contracted for in the Winter are to be delivered next week. Six new flats have been delivered this week. All the new rolling stock, including a locomotive and twelve elegant passenger coaches, will be on hand in time for the Summer travel. The Company expect to largely increase the number of trains on their time table.

A Circuit of the Supreme Court for Queens County will be held at the Court-house, North Hempstead, on Monday, Judge TAPPEN presiding. The calendar is an unusually full one, and on it are some very important railroad cases, among them that of the Flushing and North-side Railroad against some delinquent subscribers.

The following persons have been chosen officers of the Citizens' Protective Association of Flushing: Robert B. Roosevelt, President; John P. Ellis, Treasurer; William K. Murray, Secretary; Eugene T. Lynch, Charles Dupuy, A. T. Miller, George E. Perine, and T. M. Squires, Executive Committee.

At the Sheriff's sale Wednesday, the Long Island Telegraph Company's franchise, property, &c., was sold to the South-side Railroad Company.

Mr. JAMES GALE, of Elizabeth, District Deputy Sons of Temperance, and Prof. NICKERSON, of New-York, addressed a large audience at Scotch Plains on the subject of temperance last night.

About 1 o'clock yesterday morning PATRICK FORD was arrested in Jersey City, charged with stabbing JOHN PATRICK in the cheek with a knife. The parties were in a liquor-saloon in South Seventh-street, and engaged in a fight in reference to some money matter. The prisoner followed PATRICK into the street, rushed at him and stabbed him. The wound is very severe, and the man is so exhausted by the loss of blood that he is not considered out of danger. FORD was committed to await the result.

A fire broke out yesterday morning in a row of one and a half story houses at the corner of Ferry and Prospect streets, Newark. Nos. 65, 65, 67 and 69 Ferry-street were all more or less injured, but owing to the active exertions of the Fire Department none of them were entirely destroyed. The estimated loss on buildings is $2,000, and that on furniture $1,000, most of which is covered by insurance.

Last night the burning of a bed on the Hoboken Meadows caused an alarm of fire, and while Washington Truck No. 1 was leaving the engine-house, the tiller struck a young man named HENRY KATENKAMP in the face.

THE DRAWBACK FRAUDS.

Caldwell in American Custody at Last.

RICHARD B. CALDWELL, notorious for his alleged connection with SAMUEL T. BLATCHFORD, WM. H. WHIMSTER and FRANCIS A. HOWARD and others in the great drawback conspiracy, arrived in this City at 8 o'clock last evening, in charge of Col. WHITLEY, Chief of the Secret Service Division. He was transferred to Col. WHITLEY'S custody on Thursday evening, at Suspension Bridge, by Sheriff JARVIS, of Toronto, on a warrant issued by the Governor-General of Canada. The warrant was executed shortly after he had been recommitted by Judge WILSON, of Toronto, on a new writ of habeas corpus, which was granted in his case. He was greatly surprised and mystified at the expeditious manner in which he was finally extradited. It is understood that he spent several thousand dollars in procuring counsel to fight his case and to prevent his being sent to this City for trial. Mention has already been made of his sharp and protracted fight in the Canadian Courts against extradition. He said that, for his own part, he was perfectly willing to be brought to the United States, but that his opposition was the result of advice given him by lawyers. He claimed that a lawyer named BARNEY DELEVAN, living at Montreal, obtained a check from him for $2,000 by threatening to deliver him up to Col. WHITLEY after his first escape. He said that he subsequently contested the payment of the check on the ground that it was procured from him by improper means. He represented that he was compelled to ride about 400 miles in a sleigh and to suffer from cold weather, in his attempt to escape from Montreal. He was confined at Police Head-quarters, last evening, preparatory to being brought before one of the United States Commissioners, today, for commitment. Col. WHITLEY received considerable assistance from Mr. A. D. SHAW, United States Consul at Toronto, in securing the extradition of the accused.

The Industrial Field for Girls.

Thousands of girls in this City have been compelled to work hard from their early girlhood, and are, therefore, unable, from educational disadvantages, to enter the higher departments of female labor, and are obliged to earn a scanty subsistence with the needle. In order to benefit this class the trustees of the Children's Aid Society have opened, at No. 125 Bleecker-street, a sewing-machine school under the charge of a competent instructress, and free to all young girls who choose to avail themselves of its privileges. The school-room is large, well ventilated, ornamented with pleasant pictures, and filled with sewing-machines generously contributed by the various makers in the City. Since the first of January over 400 girls who could only earn from $2 to $3 a week at hand-sewing, have become efficient operators, and now make from $6 to $12 weekly. Girls are permitted to bring their own work or are supplied with materials at the school. From thirty to forty tidy industrious-looking girls may be seen at work upon the various machines daily. They practice upon all kinds of material, from the finest cambric to the heaviest shoe-leather, and smart girls will in two weeks learn to manage the most intricate machine.

Manufacturers frequently apply at the School for first-class operators, and offer them superior inducements, thus stimulating others to attain proficiency in the art. The benefits which have resulted from the establishment of this school are gratifying alike to the Children's Aid Society, and to Mrs. TROTT, the excellent Superintendent of the institution.

Since the last annual report all bills connected with the completing and furnishing the Library Building have been paid. The total cost of this building was $150,118 58. The cost of the other buildings owned by the Association is as follows: No. 141 Montague-street, $37,000; No. 149 Montague-street, $32,814 76, making a total value of real estate of $219,933 34. OBITUARY.

Daniel E. Delevan.

Col. DANIEL E. DELEVAN, who, after a protracted illness, died at Danbury, Conn., on Thursday night, aged sixty-two years, was an old resident of New-York, and for many years one of its most active and influential citizens. He was born at Sing Sing, in 1808, and was the son of Gen. DELEVAN, one of the soldiers of the Revolution. Removing to this City before he had attained his majority, he engaged in the hardware business in Maiden-lane, from which locality he removed to the corner of Broadway and Broome-street, and there for thirty years carried on his business successfully. Early in life he took an active part in politics, and identifying himself with the Democratic Party, was elected Secretary of the Tammany Society before he was twenty-two years of age. He was subsequently elected Scribe and Father of the Council, and for five successive terms held the office of Grand Sachem. He was also a member of the General Committee for over thirty years. In 1853 Mr. DELEVAN was appointed Naval Store-keeper by President PIERCE, the duties of which office he discharged with credit and ability. During Mayor TIEMAN'S term of office, he filled the position of Collector of Assessments, and in 1859 the office of City Inspector becoming vacant, Mr. DELEVAN was unanimously confirmed by the Board of Aldermen after several other nominations had been rejected. This office he held until 1863, when he was succeeded by F. I. A. BOOLE. The duties of the City Inspector were at that time manifold and arduous, but in their discharge Mr. DELEVAN brought to his aid great executive ability, and filled the office to the entire satisfaction of all political parties. He was at one time a Colonel of a City regiment in Gen. STORM'S brigade of the old militia, rising from the ranks in which he had enlisted.

Of late years Mr. DELEVAN had retired, to a great extent, from public life, owing to the infirmities of age and disease, although his counsel was sought by many who valued his advice on account of his intimate connection with, and knowledge of, the political men and measures of his day. In private life he was a genial, pleasant gentleman, and from his strict integrity and probity of character won the respect and friendship of all with whom he came in contact.

THE SLEEPY HOLLOW TRAGEDY.

Conclusion of the Testimony—Addresses to the Jury—The Charge—Waiting for the Verdict.

The trial of ISAAC VAN WART BUCKHOUT, for the murder of ALFRED RENDELL, at Sleepy Hollow, was continued at the Court-house, White Plains, yesterday.

Dr. FOWLER testified that he had been a practicing physician in Westchester County since 1835, and had known the prisoner from his boyhood. The opinion of witness as to the condition of BUCKHOUT'S mind in December, 1869, was ruled out by the Court.

Dr. S. H. SMIDT, of White Plains, testified that he had been the jail physician for the last four years; had practiced medicine for twelve years, and had had some experience in treating cases of insanity: saw BUCKHOUT in the jail on the Thursday following the tragedy at Sleepy Hollow; BUCKHOUT did not appear to have any physical disease; as he declined to answer any question in the jail, I administered ether as an experiment, and found it successful on that occasion, as it had been in cases of feigned insanity; on recovering from its effects he at once became communicative and perfectly rational.

The testimony on both sides here closed. GREENVILLE T. JENKS, Esq., addressed the jury for about three hours in behalf of the prisoner, and in the course of his remarks quoted various authorities to show what constituted premeditated murder, and the condition of mind which the murderer must have been in at the time of the homicide to render him accountable for the commission of the deed.

H. L. CLINTON, Esq., summed up the case on the part of the prosecution. He contended that the prosecutor had clearly proved the sanity of BUCKHOUT, and therefore rendered him accountable for his acts. Justice TAPPEN then delivered his charge to the jury. In all such cases, he said, there was a motive for the commission of a crime, and it was for the jury to decide whether a motive had been proven in the present instance. With regard to the theory of insanity set up, it must be received with great circumspection, even though no motive could be proven for the commission of the crime.

The case was then submitted to the jury about 6 o'clock. At a late hour last night the jury had not returned a verdict.

Seventh Assembly District Republican Association.

The Seventh Assembly District Republican Association met last night at their head-quarters, No. 813 Broadway, Col. FORBES in the chair, and GEORGE H. HILL and A. DE WITT BALDWIN Secretaries. Resolutions were adopted complimenting the Republicans of the City and the State on the unity and harmony restored in their ranks; and also condemning the action of any disaffected individuals in the Seventh Assembly District who might attempt to form any organization in opposition to the regular organization of the District. It was also resolved that this association of the Seventh Assembly District, the only district in the City which was carried for the electoral ticket of Gen. GRANT, reiterates its steady devotion to the Administration of President GRANT, and its able, judicious and patriotic policy.

A communication was read from Col. A. J. H. DUGANNE, tendering his resignation as a member of the General Committee. A number of members of the meeting spoke very flatteringly of Mr. DUGANNE'S services to the Republican Party, and opposed the acceptance of his resignation. The communication was laid over for further consideration, and the meeting adjourned.

Art.

Among the portraits to be exhibited at the Spring Exhibition of the Academy, opening April 15, will be one of Rev. STEPHEN H. TYNG, D. D., which will excite interest among his friends and parishioners, as well as among the art-loving public. The portrait is considered by good judges to be by far the best that has ever been painted of the reverend gentleman, and as certain to do great credit to the artist, Mr. FAGNANI, whose celebrity and success in this branch of art have so long been acknowledged.

The Long Island Railroad Casualty.

Mrs. CATHERINE MCKEON, who was killed Thursday evening while walking on the track of the Flushing and North-side Railroad, was the wife of the man who, with his daughter, saved a train on the Long Island Railroad last Fall, by removing a telegraph-pole which had blown down during the night, and lay directly across the track. It seems that Mrs. MCKEON was waving her handkerchief to some one on the Long Island train, which was passing at the time, and no doubt thought the whistle of the Flushing train was that of the Long Island. As the two roads run side by side, and within only a few yards of each other, the rumbling of the trains is calculated to deceive. At Dutch Kills, and in the immediate vicinity of the accident, four persons have been hit by passing trains, and three of them instantly killed, within a short time.

At the Coroner's inquest held yesterday the following verdict was rendered: "That CATHARINE MCKEON came to her death by being run over by one of the locomotives on the Flushing Railroad, through carelessness of the officers of the road in not keeping a flag-man at the crossing at Dutch Kills to give warning of approaching trains, and also by the engineer not blowing the whistle as ordered by the State law governing railroads." They also censure the Company for not having proper fences.

The gang of stone-cutters who on Thursday evening created a disturbance in Harlem by an attack upon the men at work in WESTERVELT'S stone-yard, in One Hundred and Twenty-ninth-street, between Third and Fourth avenues, returned again last evening and renewed the riot. The men in the yard were obnoxious because they were working, as it was claimed, under rates, and also because they were not members of the Protective Union, and the assailants, therefore, displayed the rancor usual in such feuds. They were unsuccessful, however, in the attempt to force the men to quit work, because of the prompt arrival of a large force of the Twelfth Precinct Police, under Capt. SLOTT. But they were only overawed for the time, and lurking in squads about the locality, attacked the men as they came from work. The Police came instantly to the rescue, and with no other casualty than slight injuries to Sargeant OSBORN, who was knocked down, the rioters were driven off, and six of those most prominent in the affair arrested and locked up to await arraignment before Justice MCQUADE this morning.

Those Fenian Arms in Vermont.

From the Montreal Witness.

It has been reported to us, on apparently reliable authority, that a quantity of arms which the Fenians had at Underhill, near Essex Junction, Vt., have recently been sent northward by teams, to be deposited, as is supposed, near the frontier. This movement has been carried on chiefly by night, and has occasioned a good deal of talk about an approaching Fenian raid upon Montreal in its present supposed defenceless state. No men are spoken of as mustering, and consequently no immediate outbreak is anticipated, but it is supposed that preparations are making for a future movement, and it is suggested that some person be sent out by our Government to look about him and report. This information appears to us too vague to warrant even the small expenditure of sending a man to reconnoiter; but, if there be anything afoot, our friends on the frontiers will doubtless give us prompt information.

WHO IS KNOX?—There was quite a lively discussion started a few evenings since in a fashionable boarding-house, in the upper part of the City, among the young gentlemen boarders, as to who made the best hats. The general verdict being in favor of KNOX, one innocent youth inquired who KNOX was. This created a laugh. "Well, what are you laughing at?" said the I. Y. "I bought a hat at No. 212 Broadway, corner of Fulton-street, and it is as handsome as any of yours." It being a KNOX'S, of course they confessed to the truth of his statement, and he discovered who KNOX was.
